Communication Through the New Cable Restored.

The Work of Paying Out Resumed by the Great Eastern.

Postponement of the Ecumenical Council.

Riot at an Orange Demonstration in Ireland.

TERRIBLE ACCIDENT NEAR RICHMOND.

Earthquake Shocks In and About St. Louis.

THE NEW CABLE.

Good News Again—The Fault Corrected—The Great Eastern Again at Work Paying Out.

BREST, Friday, July 2.

Communication with the steamship Great Eastern, through the cable, was restored at noon to-day. Dispatches received from her explain the suspension of communication as follows:

A fault was discovered in the cable on Wednesday, and the Great Eastern was obliged to stop to locate and remove it. A heavy gale prevailed, and in order to avoid probability of a serious accident to the cable, it was decided to cut and buoy it, which was successfully done. The weather to-day having become fine the cable was recovered, the fault removed, and the work of paying out recommenced. All well on board. At noon to-day the Great Eastern was in lat. 47° 55', long. 30°.

ROME.

Postponement of the Ecumenical Council.

LONDON, Friday, July 2—Evening.

It is rumored that the Ecumenical Council at Rome is to be postponed for a year.

GREAT BRITAIN.

Riot in Portadown—The Mob Fired upon by the Police.

DUBLIN, Friday, July 2.

A severe riot occurred in Portadown to-day, arising out of an Orange demonstration. The Police fired upon the rioters, killing one man and wounding another.

The Irish Church Bill—The Amendments by the Lords.

LONDON, Friday, July 2.

The House of Lords to-night continued the consideration of the Irish Church bill in Committee. Clauses Nos. 25 and 26 were agreed to.

The Marquis of SALISBURY moved to strike out clause No. 27, which requires that payments be made for the retention of ecclesiastical residences by the churches.

The Duke of CLEVELAND moved an amendment authorizing grants to the Catholics and Presbyterians. After a long debate the House divided, and the amendment was lost by a vote of 113 to 146.

Conference of Peers on the Irish Church Question—The Duke of Cleveland their Acknowledged Leader.

LONDON, Friday, July 2.

A meeting of Peers was held yesterday to arrange the composition of the new Irish Church body, and to frame amendments to the pending bill. Earl RUSSELL, Baron WESTBURY, Earl GREY and others agreed to follow the lead of the Duke of CLEVELAND.

The "Times" on the Relations of England with Foreign Countries.

LONDON, Friday, July 2.

The Times this morning, in reviewing the Revenue returns, sees no reason for disquietude on account of the relations between Great Britain and foreign countries. The most important matters to business men are the state of the relations with America on the Alabama question, and the present condition of France. The Alabama difficulty is not more threatening now than it was a year or two since. Mr. JOHNSON'S negotiations were not entirely futile. They have demonstrated England's willingness to make reasonable concessions. Henceforth it will be impossible to extract a grievance from her acts or demeanor. The Americans feel this, and at present have no desire to push the question in a hostile manner.

SPAIN.

Threatening Manifesto from the Republican Junta.

MADRID, Friday, July 2.

The Republican Junta of New-Castile has issued a manifesto against the reactionary policy of a portion of the Ministry, and their disregard of individual rights. The manifesto recommends reorganization, and affirms the right of insurrection.

The Proposed Changes in the Ministry.

MADRID, Friday, July 2.

The contemplated changes in the Ministry have been postponed until the budget of expenditures now before the Cortes is passed.

Carlist Troubles in the Provinces—Cab-Drivers' Strike—The Cuban Question.

MADRID, Friday, July 2.

Carlist demonstrations are reported in the Provinces.

It is rumored that Señor RIVERO, President of the Cortes, is likely to be called upon to form the new Ministry.

Several official communications have passed between General RODAS, the new Captain-General of Cuba, and the Home Government, by cable, relative to Cuban affairs and the situation in the Island, but their tenor has not been made public.

There has been a strike of the cab drivers, who objected to the new regulations requiring them to be uniformed and to issue tickets to passengers. The strike causes much inconvenience.

BELGIUM.

Arrival of the Viceroy of Egypt at Brussels.

BRUSSELS, Friday, July 2.

The Viceroy of Egypt has arrived in this city, where he is hospitably received.

Licensing Free Concert Saloons in Albany—Indignation of Citizens.

ALBANY, Friday, July 2.

Much anxiety has existed here on the subject of granting licenses to free concert saloons, and large numbers of the best citizens have appeared before the Excise Commissioners to remonstrate against it. Still, in the absence of the President of the Board, the remaining members have granted licenses, causing great indignation. It is said the action is illegal.

Governor HOFFMAN went to West Point to-day to spend a few days.

Ferry-boat Disaster near Cleveland—Several Persons Drowned.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Friday, July 2.

At 10 o'clock last night the tugboat Ripon, while steaming up the river, struck a small ferry-boat containing ten or twelve passengers. The ferry-boat was shivered to fragments, and from three to five persons are supposed to have been drowned. Only one body, that of MARTIN O'DONNELL, has been recovered. The names of the other persons lost are unknown.

FEARFUL ACCIDENT.

Fall of a Crowded Bridge Near Richmond, Va.—A Prominent Politician Among the Killed.

RICHMOND, Va., Friday, July 2.

A barbecue given to the Walker colored men, took place to-day on Vauxhall's Island, adjoining this city. About 3 o'clock the chain bridge leading to the island was so crowded that it gave way, carrying down about sixty persons. Colonel JAMES R. BRANCH, a prominent broker and Conservative candidate for the Senate, was instantly killed; also Policeman KIRKHAM, who was on duty striving to prevent the crowd from rushing on the bridge. Seven colored men were fatally wounded.

Further Particulars—The Frightful Death of Colonel Branch—After the Accident.

RICHMOND, Va., Friday, July 2.

The Colored Conservative Barbecue which was ended by the accident, was attended by about three hundred colored men and a large number of whites. A large crowd had congregated at the gate of the bridge leading to the island, but were kept off by the Police. Colonel BRANCH, who was managing the affair, while standing on the bridge, directed the Police to admit the crowd, which being done, the weight broke the structure precipitating a number into the water, where Colonel BRANCH, Policeman KIRKHAM and ROBERT ASHLY were caught in the falling timbers and killed. Seven other persons were wounded, two of whom will die. The body of Colonel BRANCH was followed to his residence by a procession of prominent citizens, and the Police escorted Mr. KIRKHAM'S remains home. Colonel BRANCH was one of the first business men of the city. Richmond is pervaded by a general gloom in consequence of the calamity.

EARTHQUAKES.

Severe Shocks in St. Louis and Cairo—Windows and Crockery Rattled and Furniture Moved.

ST. LOUIS, Friday, July 2.

Quite a sharp shock of earthquake was felt here between 1 and 2 o'clock this morning. Windows and crockery rattled, and in some instances furniture moved. No damage is reported. The wave traveled north and south, and lasted from five to ten seconds. The shock was felt within a circuit of thirty miles of here, and at Cairo quite severely.

The Pennsylvania Coal Miners' Strike—Resumption of Work.

MAUCH CHUNK, Penn., Friday, July 2.

The Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company met the President of the Miners' Association at Summit Hill and agreed upon a basis of terms, which are not very satisfactory to the Company. But it was the best that could be done, as the miners would make no concessions. The terms made are as follows:

For a car of 76 cubic feet, $1, to be topped as usual. Other cars in the same proportion by cubic measure. The miners' wages are $16 per week, and inside laborers $14; outside, $11 to $11 50 for first-class hands. The above rates are based on the price of $5 per ton for coal on board of vessels at Elizabethport; for every advance of 25 cents per ton above $5, five cents additional to be paid on each car of 76 cubic feet, and 50 cents per week additional on labor. No account to be taken of the advance in the price of coal of less than twenty-five cents per ton. Prices of coal to be regulated by theaction of the Lehigh Board of Coal Dealers in New-York, at at their regular meeting at the end of each month, and to fix the prices for the following month's sales, to be certified to the President of the Workingmen's Benevolent Association. Some of the companies in the Wyoming and Lackawana regions have made terms a little more favorable than these, while others in the upper Lehigh, Hazelton and Mahanoy region are not so good for the companies.

About one half of the companies in all the Pennsylvania coal districts will recommence work on or about the 6th inst. But very little work will be done before that time. The Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company's men commence on Tuesday the 6th.

A French Corvette at Fortress Monroe With Vomito on Board—Death of the Principal Officers.

FORTRESS MONROE, Friday, July 2.

The French corvette Curieux, from Martinique, is in quarantine with eighteen cases of vomito on board. She buried two men at sea yesterday, three to-day, and three the day before. The captain, first officer and surgeon are dead, and the assistant surgeon is dying. Until medical aid can be procured, she will be attended by Dr. COOPER, quarantine surgeon. She will take in provisions and coal as soon as possible and proceed north.

The New Minister to the Sandwich Islands—His Departure from San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Thursday, July 1.

HENRY A. PIERCE, United States Minister Resident to the Sandwich Islands, sailed for Honolulu to-day on the ship Rival.

Arrest of a Woman in Cambridge, Mass., for Child Murder.

BOSTON, Friday, July 2.

ROSANNAH RYAN was committed to Cambridge jail to-day, in default of $5,000 bail, on the charge of causing the death of her stepson, six years old, by whipping. The parties live at Stow.

Miscellaneous Telegrams.

LEWISTON, Me., July 2.—JAMES BROWN, son of Mr. OLIVER BROWN, of Auburn, in attempting to slide down on the balusters of the Grammar Schoolhouse stairs, slipped and fell three stories to the lower floor. He was instantly killed.

PHILADELPHIA, July 2.—Eighteen German singing societies of Philadelphia, comprising nearly five hundred voices, will take part in the eleventh Saengerfest at Baltimore from the 10th to the 18th of July. They will leave on the 10th in an extra train. The steamer Berlin, of the Bremen line, arrived at Baltimore this morning with 800 passengers and a full cargo.

ALBANY, N. Y., July 2.—The election for a President of the Union College is postponed for one month. Professor DAVID MURRAY, of this city, is said to have the best prospect of election.

ELMIRA, N. Y., July 2.—Miss ANNA ROSE, daughter of WALTER ROSE, Esq., a hardware merchant of Horseheadsville, was drowned on Wednesday afternoon. She and a party of young friends were in a boat which was carried over the dam. The other persons were saved from drowning. The body of Miss ROSE was recovered this morning.

WASHINGTON.

The Purchase of Bonds To-day—Mr. Boutwell's Intentions—Effect of the Rigid Enforcement of the Neutrality Laws—An Incident of the Gettysburg Celebration—Miscellaneous.

Special Dispatches to the New-York Times.

WASHINGTON, Friday, July 2.

The Secretary of the Treasury states that the purchase of three millions of bonds to-morrow is an operation independent of his regular semi-monthly purchases of one million, which order will continue to be executed without reference to to-morrow's purchase. The cash resources of the Treasury being largely in excess of current wants, Secretary BOUTWELL deems himself authorized to make this use of a portion of the surplus, and, if his total purchases should exceed the authorized amount of the sinking fund when Congress meets, that body will be asked to make such disposition of it as they think proper.

THE ENFORCEMENT OF THE NEUTRALITY LAWS.

Concerning the rigid enforcement of the Neutrality laws, of which we had such a recent illustration, it may be stated that the action meets with the hearty approval of Mr. SUMNER, and that on this question he is in full accord with the President and the Secretary of State. Cuban belligerency in the present situation of affairs on that island is a humbug, and the country must look to see the action of this Government toward Cuba controlled by the attitude of our relations toward England on the Alabama question. The undercurrent of opinion in Administration circles here is that the moral force of the example of a vigilant enforcement of our unpopular Neutrality laws, appealing as it does to the highest sense of justice, would have irresistible weight in bringing England to terms. These views obtain with gentlemen whose personal sympathies are strongly with the Cubans, but who, looking beyond that cause and its adherents, perceive greater duty and a loftier attitude for the Government in the settlement of the most important international question that has ever arisen between two first-class Powers.

AN INCIDENT OF THE GETTYSBURG CEREMONIES.

An incident occurred in connection with the Gettysburg dedication ceremonies, which shows that at least some of the inhabitants of that now remarkable little village are not fully up to the advanced theories of the equal rights people. Among the members of the Common Council delegation from this city was a colored man, whom the recent municipal election elevated to civic honors from the position of a hotel waiter. This colored Councilman was refused entertainment on any terms at the Gettysburg Springs Hotel, whereat he and his associates become exceedingly wroth. Having, during last Winter, waited on a distinguished Congressman who was in Gettysburg at the time, he applied to him to use his influence in his behalf with the hotel man. But the Representative declined to interfere, and the result was that our colored legislator did not lodge at the Springs Hotel that night. Mayor BOWEN, who had special charge of the delegation, although very powerful in Washington, was utterly without influence in the old Dutch settlement, and all his eloquence was lost on "mine host." The most he could do for his colored friend was to invite him to breakfast with him the next morning, and to show him every mark of his distinguished consideration, which he did, to the evident disgust of the proprietor of the Springs House. The Mayor of Washington lives up to his professions.

EX-PRESIDENT JOHNSON'S SPEECH.

Mr. ANDREW JOHNSON'S exhibition last night is condemned by every one here whose opinion is worth anything. The universal sentiment is that it is a national humiliation, and the respectable portion of the ex-President's political friends are loud in censuring him for his indecent attack on President GRANT. Mr. JOHNSON not only unnecessarily insulted the official head and representative of the country, but the overwhelming masses of the people who elected him.

PERSONAL.

Senator MORTON arrived here this forenoon, and will be in the city for some days to come. He is in excellent health and spirits, and thoroughly approves the course of the Administration. Governor FAIRCHILD, of Wisconsin, also came to this city from Gettysburg, and will go to New-York to attend the meeting of the Association of the Army of the Potomac.

THE FIFTH.

The bankers of this city announce suspension of business on the 5th of July, and request those who have paper maturing on that day to attend to it on the 3d.

THE OLD CABLE FOR SALE.

The Quartermaster's Department advertises the sale of the submarine cable laid by the Government in 1865 between Newport News and Sewell's Point, Va.

THE ARMY OF THE POTOMAC.

A large number of officers will go from Washington and vicinity to attend the meeting of the Society of the Army of the Potomac at New-York on the 5th instant. Much interest is felt in the organization and success of the Society, and the reunion promises to be largely attended by the most distinguished surviving officers of that great army.

Dispatches to the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Friday, July 2.

GEORGIA POSTMASTERS.

President GRANT, in an interview to-day with Representatives CLIFT and EDWARDS, Dr. CULVER and other Georgians, remarked that, having appointed Postmasters for Augusta and Macon, he was not disposed to change them, unless incumbents should prove incompetent. During the interview GRANT gave no indication that he was considering the political status of Georgia.

NEW POSTMASTERS.

The commissions of the following Postmasters were signed by the President to-day:

James McKean, at Mercer, Penn.; W. B. Griswold, at Mankato, Minn.; Henrie E. Wells, at Moline, Ill.; William F. Gust, at Fentonville, Mich.; Albert G. McDaniel, at Hannibal, Mo.; W. H. Sturgess, at Keesepoint, N. Y.; Edwin Lisle, at Kendallville, Ind.; Thomas B. Irwin, at Paw Paw, Mich.; William J. Labbeton, at Northfield, Minn.; James K. More, at St. Peter, Minn.; Samuel Cobam, at Newtown, Mass.; Joseph Hall, at Oconto, Wis.; Mrs. E. B. Cuthbertson, at New-Brighton, Penn.; Peter Platter, at Seymour, Ind.

CUSTOMS RECEIPTS.

Following is the receipts for customs duties at the principal ports from June 21 to June 30, inclusive: Boston, $301,615; New-York, $2,782,000; Philadelphia, $230,628; Baltimore, $236,151; New-Orleans, from June 1 to June 19, $302,306; San Francisco, from June 6 to June 19, $301,365. Total, $4,024,065. Receipts internal revenue to-day, $1,250,000.

REVENUE DECISIONS.

The Commissioner of Internal Revenue decides as follows in regard to stamping goods sold by United States Marshals under forfeit:

"When it becomes necessary for Collectors of Customs, of Internal Revenue, or United States Marshals to sell goods seized on distraint or forfeited to the United States, in absence of any provision of law authorizing a Collector of Internal Revenue to part with stamps, except on sale, I deem it advisable where the goods sell for enough to purchase stamps to affix thereto, in addition to the expense of sale, to appropriate the proceeds of the sale in that way; but if the goods cannot be sold for a sufficient sum to pay costs of seizure and sale, and have a sufficient surplus to purchase the required stamps, I should hereafter prefer that the goods be withdrawn from sale, and stored in some suitable and safe place, where they may be kept until after the assembling of Congress, and until some additional legislation may be had which will enable the Government to sell such goods, and give them currency upon the market, without the difficulties and embarrassments which are now experienced every time a sale of the kind is attempted."

DUTIES ON FOREIGN IMPORTS.

Our Consul at Liverpool sends the following to the State Department:

UNITED STATES CONSULATE, LIVERPOOL, June 18.

SIR: I have the honor to inform you that, in accordance with a resolution of the House of Commons, the importation of the undermentioned articles into Great Britain became free on the 1st of June inst., viz.: Wheat, barley, oats, rye, biscuits and bread; cassava powder, macaroni, farinlios flour, peas, beans, maize or Indian corn, buckwheat, bere or bigg wheat, meal and flour, bean meal, pea meal, corn meal, buckwheat meal, meal not otherwise enumerated or described, arrowroot, barley, pearled manna, croup, potato flour, hair-powder, perfumed powder, powder not otherwise enumerated or described that will serve the same purpose as starch, rice dust and meal, sago, Semolina starch, gum of starch, torrified or calcined tapioca, vermicilla; and that from and after the same date, in lieu of the previous duties, on beer and ale, the following rates are to be levied, viz.: Mumm, the barrel of thirty-six gallons, £1 1s.; Spruce, the worts of which were before fermentation of a specific gravity not exceeding 1,190 degrees, the barrel of thirty-six gallons, £1 1s.; exceeding 1,190 degrees, £1 4s. Of other sorts, viz.: Beer, the worts of which were before fermentation of a specific gravity not exceeding 1,085 degrees, the barrel of thirty-six gallons, 8s.; exceeding 1,085 degrees, the barrel of thirty-six gallons, 16s.; exceeding 1,090 degrees, the barrel of thirty-six gallons, 18s.

I have the honor, &c.,

THOMAS H. DUDLEY.

Hon. HAMILTON FISH, Secretary of State.

EUROPEAN NEWS BY MAIL.

ARRIVAL OF THE BREMEN STEAMSHIP DEUTSCHLAND

The steamship Deutschland, which left Bremen June 19, and Southampton June 22, reached this port yesterday. The news thus received is later by two days than was at hand by the Russia.

Referring to the weather and the harvest, the Chamber of Agriculture Journal says: "The wheats in the north and east are certainly not first-rate. From North Yorkshire we learn that there is a thin and defective plant on the heavy soils, and in the West Riding the crop cannot be an average. In North Lincolnshire the wheats are reported to promise less than an average; and in South Lincolnshire and the Great Fen Level the crop may be an average, but will certainly be late. In Cambridgeshire wheat looks tolerably well; the same is true in Norfolk and Suffolk, and in Essex the crop is good upon heavy land, but on the light lands poor. In the southern counties the wheat is earing three weeks later than last year, and it is reported doubtful if a full average can be attained. And the midland counties do not promise more than an average wheat crop, even with the best of weather. The prospects of barley are equally unsatisfactory, the weather having been too cold for producing heavy crops. In Norfolk and Suffolk the barleys look well on the highly-farmed lands, but on thin soils are defective, backward and yellow. Oats, beans and peas tell a more favorable tale. The potatoes come up irregularly, and have to some extent thrown out super-tubers instead of putting up a vigorous top. As far as probabilities strike us now, we anticipate a rather late harvest—that is three weeks or a month later than last year—and a yield of wheat and barley somewhat below an average; an average, however, being possible if we should have a settled sunny July."

The Pope, in replying to the congratulations addressed to him on June 17 by Cardinal PATRIZI, on the occasion of the anniversary of his succession to the Papal throne, said: "The world is divided into two societies. On the one hand there is the Revolution allying itself with Socialism, and rejecting both religion and morality; on the other hand we see the faithful calmly awaiting the triumph of religious principles." His Holiness added that he trusted in Providence for the protection of Rome against all assaults.

Advices from Hanover state that the King of Prussia was received in that city with great coldness. All the high families had left on the preceding evening, and as the King passed the windows of the houses were closed. In many streets the words "King GEORGE forever!" were traced in large characters on the walls. The troops alone took part in the reception of King WILLIAM, who appeared to be entering a conquered city. Count DE BISMARCK did not seem to be much surprised at the aspect of the population, and said to the Burgomaster, M. BOSCH, to whom the King had already addressed a few words: "We know that we are not loved here, but we care very little for that. We are the stronger, and that is enough for us."

Her British Majesty's Secretary of Legation at Denmark, in an able report to Parliament on the finance, trade and agriculture of that country, says: "The average Danish cereal harvest may be taken as about 8,400,000 quarters, (in England about 20,000,000 quarters.) The whole Danish export may be compared (roughly) with that of North Germany or Russia; it may be half that of Austria or the Danubian Principalities. Supposing Great Britain to require 5,000,000 quarters of foreign corn, the Danish contribution of from 700,000 to 800,000 quarters is evidently an important part of our food supplies."

AFFAIRS IN ENGLAND.

Mr. Bright and the House of Lords—More of the Irish Church Bill—Current Topics—"The Row," Men, Women and Incidents.

From Our Own Correspondent.

LONDON, Saturday, June 19, 1869.

For the present the House of Lords is safe. Mr. BRIGHT and his followers will allow it to live yet a little longer. The Irish Church bill has not been thrown out, and, therefore, there will be no chance of getting up that popular agitation which some "friends of the people" were earnestly hoping for. Mr. BRIGHT did his best to stir up a quarrel all round by writing a letter full of ugly sneers and menaces toward the Lords. Naturally great resentment was excited, but after Mr. GLADSTONE had apologised for the letter in one House, and Lord GRANVILLE had explained it away in the other, the Lords quietly passed the bill through a second reading. The debate, as all acknowledge, has been one of the best which has taken place in either House for some years. The Bishop of Petersborough (Dr. MAGEE, an Irishman,) greatly distinguished himself by a speech of remarkable eloquence and brilliancy against the bill. Everyone who was present at its delivery declares that no more magnificent display of oratory has been heard in Parliament during the present generation. On the other hand, the Bishop of St. David's, (Dr. THIRWALL,) and the Archbishop of Canterbury, made impressive speeches in favor of the second reading. One of the ablest speeches on this side of the question was that delivered by the Marquis of SALISBURY, whom many of your readers will recollect better as Lord CRANBORNE. He advised the Lords not to reject the bill without first trying to amend it. "I believe," he said, "that by refusing the second reading of this bill you are accepting the battle-ground offered to you by your adversaries, instead of taking that which you might have accepted for yourselves." This consideration had great weight in influencing the judgment of many Conservative Peers. Last night Lord RUSSELL made a long discursive, useless sort of speech, and Lord CAIRNS wasted a good deal of time in reply. The Duke of ARGYLE having succeeded in making the most pretentious and empty speech of the whole debate—the part he invariably plays—the bill was read a second time by a majority of 33. The Lords will now try to amend it in Committee, but a man of Mr. GLADSTONE'S temperament, having a majority of 114 at his back, is not likely to accept the suggestions which come to him from the Upper House.

I need not tell you that most people here will be heartily glad when this bill is finally out of the way. It puts a stop to all other business, excites passion and prejudices in many different classes of the community, and provokes discussions which at once weary and irritate the public mind. The process of getting such a measure as this through Parliament is necessarily slow and tedious. When it is safely through the House of Commons, it has to be dragged by gradual stages through the House of Lords. Then it has to go back to the Commons, who may not concur in the amendments made by the Lords. It will then have to be reported back to the House of Lords, and so it will be bandied about until its own father—or fathers, for Mr. MIALL and Mr. BRIGHT had a good deal more to do with originating it than Mr. GLADSTONE—will be sick at the sight of it. The opponents of the measure have lately been getting up public meetings in all parts of the country against it, but they have not convinced any rational man of the reality of that "reaction" of which they boast so loudly. The verdict of the nation has been pronounced, and there is not the faintest reason for supposing that it would be reversed if it were it to be challenged afresh to-morrow. The Dissenters have not changed their opinions; the Roman Catholics have not; the opponents of "Church and State" have not. Where, then, could the reaction come from? The House of Lords did well not to put their trust in the fallacies which ultra-Conservatives put before them. If there were enough Protestants in the country to overwhelm the peculiar combinations which have been formed in favor of the Irish Church bill, they would have done it long ago.

CURRENT TOPICS.

If we set this question aside, there is absolutely nothing else to engage public attention very deeply. The talk about America has, at last, come to an end, with this result, that when the next great speech arrives from Mr. SUMNER no one will take the least notice of it. The incipient revolution in France is forgotten. Wherever we turn there seems to be a more than autumnal dullness reigning over public affairs. In London the season is one of the flattest on record. The old complaints concerning the absence of the Queen from the metropolis are revived, and the tradespeople say that they are half ruined. The depression of business reacts upon the work people, and there are hundreds of men in all the principal trades out of employment. I have heard that at their trades' union meetings lately many bitter remarks have been made concerning the continued refusal of the Queen to take up her residence in London during any portion of the year. But this local discontent signifies very little. The workmen of Birmingham, Manchester, Sheffield or any other large seat of industry care nothing where the Queen spends her time. It makes no difference to them. The Queen's popularity is therefore not materially affected by her rigorous seclusion. The London people do not like it, but the Londoners are not of the vast importance they suppose themselves to be. If the Prince of Wales lived a quieter kind of life, and in that respect imitated his mother, the stability of the throne would be less imperiled than it now is. People hear nothing of him but more or less disreputable stories. He is continually bringing himself into discredit. The scandals connected with his name accumulate every day, and now it is scarcely a secret that a lady of title who recently disgraced her family owes her ruin to her future King. This kind of talk will not go on much longer without unpleasant consequences. The Prince of WALES was born a generation or two too late. He could have led any life he pleased sixty years ago, but people's ideas have changed since then, and we have had enough of dissolute Princes of a German house. The Queen's retirement is not fraught with danger to the crown, but her eldest son's dissipation is. There are many private gentlemen who already avoid the Prince as much as they can. It is unpleasant to have to deal with a man who insists upon playing at cards for money, carefully takes all he wins, and never pays a shilling he loses.

"THE ROW."

Perhaps it is in consequence of the Queen's absence that "the Row," that resort of fashionable life in London, seems to be going gradually to the bad. In the middle of the day decent people can still walk there, and look at the riders without much inconvenience. But in the afternoon and evening, all sorts of suspicious characters take possession of the path. Women with painted cheeks and dyed hair spend their time under the trees instead of in the Burlington Arcade. They are followed by a train of over-dressed young men, who seem to have been turned out of all the warehouses and drapers' shops in town. The more remarkable class of habitués still take their accustomed walks, but the Row of an evening is certainly not what it used to be. The old stagers are so well known as to have received nicknames. There is a curled and dyed man whose rigid walk and cadaverous face have won for him the appellation of "the Corpse." A stern-looking woman who drives a pair of ponies is known as "the Fury." Then there are three brothers, with very sandy hair, each a little uglier than the other. These are respectively called Battle, Murder and Sudden Death. There is a very little man with a particularly lively, jerky sort of gait. He has been christened "the Flea." A man who looks like a hideous caricature of a Jew, with the most forbidding countenance ever seen, and a young woman by his side—never the same young woman two weeks together—is known as "Satan." He is a money-lender, and his average rate of interest for loans on good security is not more than 150 per cent. All sorts of good wishes attend this gentleman as he takes his fair companion out for an airing. This class of frequenters is increasing, while the country squires and the young bucks of the very first water seem to be deserting the Row. Perhaps it is only a temporary or accidental fluctuation, but certain it is that it is very marked at present. Of course, when the whisper has gone round in the morning that royalty may be expected, the Park is more lively. Even the Prince and Princess TECK "draw" very successfully. The other day they had a sort of reception at the Botanical Gardens, Regent's Park. The attendance was so large that at 5 o'clock there were still hundreds of carriages unable to get near the gates. The Princess TECK (Princess MARY, of Cambridge) has always kept on good terms with the public, and her husband seems to be liked. The men with whom he associates speak well of him, and he came here with a good character—thus in all respects presenting a favorable contrast to Prince CHRISTIAN, who married an English Princess while having a large family by another woman. Prince CHRISTIAN is never likely to be much beloved in England.

MR. BRIGHT.

The rumor is pretty general that Mr. BRIGHT offered to resign office when he found that his letter threatening the Lords had given great offence, and that it was only at the repeated solicitations of Mr. GLADSTONE that he consented to remain in the Cabinet until the Irish Church bill has passed through all its stages. People have been demanding Mr. BRIGHT'S resignation, in total forgetfulness that he never wanted office, and would be very glad, indeed, to relinquish it. Mr. GLADSTONE invited him to join the Ministerial family only to suit his own purposes. Mr. BRIGHT is a tower of strength to any Administration, and, of course, now that Mr. GLADSTONE has realized the advantage of having him as a colleague, he would be more than ever sorry to dispense with his services. While Mr. BRIGHT is in the Ministry he is not unsettling his followers by a course of agitation, and the extreme Radicals are contented in the knowledge that their chief is a powerful member of the Government. But the bonds of office must be almost insupportable to Mr. BRIGHT, and therefore it would be no punishment to him to require him to resign. He cannot even write an indiscreet letter without being very sharply called over the coals for it. Mr. GLADSTONE has, it is said, prevailed upon him to remain in office until the Irish Church bill is safely out of harm's way, so as to avoid the appearance of dissensions in the Cabinet. After that Mr. BRIGHT is to resign if he is still so minded.

SPAIN AND MEXICO.

Spanish Parliamentary Debate on the Regency—Extended Reference to Mexican Affairs—Prim in Defence of Juarez and the Republic.

The Madrid correspondent of the London Morning Herald, writing under date of June 14, refers to a most interesting incident of the previous day's debate on the Regency question. He says: "I will not detail Señor NOVARRO'S diatribe against the Regency. It was full of exaggerations like the foregoing. I will pass on to the allusions he made to Belgium and Mexico, which drew forth a sharp rebuke from General PRIM. Referring to what Señor RIOS ROSAS had said during the debates on the monarchy, to the effect that they had an historical precedent of a nation voting a monarchy without a monarch in the case of Belgium, he remarked that it was true that in 1830 Belgium proclaimed the hereditary monarchy, and not finding a monarch, made the President of its Assembly Regent until she called LEOPOLD I. But Belgium was a sedate, grave and patient country of the North. Spain, on the contrary, was an impetuous, hasty country of the South. Belgium had the sentiment of patriotism and independence which produces unanimity in peoples, a unanimity from which Spain was very far distant. Belgium had the benevolence of the Great Powers, England and France, to such an extent that four months after its revolution it was recognised by all the parties to the treaty of Vienna. She had not to employ any public force or coercion of any kind to any of her subjects. It was not strange that with a people so situated the Regency should have led to good results. Señor NOVARRO then went on to say: But when the Duke DE LA TORRE comes to swear to his new charge, can he say what the Regent of Belgium could? Would there not leap up to his memory the bloody records of Cadiz, Malaga, Jerez? Would there not rise to his imagination the dark prospect of the coming Summer, the epoch which is the political equinoctial of Spain. To the example of Belgium I will oppose another of extreme application to our country, the example of a country more analogous to ours. I will record a page of contemporaneous history, half national, half foreign—half foreign, for it refers to a country now no longer belonging to us; but half national, for time was when that country was the richest flower of the queen of the two worlds. You will understand I refer to Mexico, which is New Spain as we are Old Spain; Mexico, to whom we have given our blood and our life, our civilization and our spirit, in whom they reproduce our virtues and our vices, as children reflect the image and dispositions of their parents. In 1820-21 they realized in Mexico a revolution like that we have carried to a head. There they proclaimed a monarchy, as we have proclaimed one here; they called to a dynasty whom they suspected would not come. Then the plan of IGUALA gave place to that of CORDOVA, in virtue of which they did not call a Prince of a reigning house, but made possible the shameful monarchy of a vulgar ambicioso, ITURBIDE. There an assembly were met to save the country, to enter into a normal and tranquil epoch, a little more or less, the same as in Spain. This assembly has met, which does not know what to do to save the country. There, one night, a sergeant rushed out of his barracks, crying through the streets of Mexico, "Viva ITURBIDE! Viva el Emperador!" And the lepers—that is to say the infamous and degraded of the populace, the lazzaroni of Mexico—cried, "Viva el Emperador! Viva ITURBIDE!" Then the lepers and the soldiers, half drunk, went to the Assembly in a body, and obliged them to proclaim ITURBIDE Emperor. The Assembly, not being able to resist those requests, which appeared like those of the legionaries of Rome, of whom TACITUS tells us, "Præces erant, sed quibus contradici non poset," proclaimed ITURBIDE Emperor. The Emperor sought his force and the rising of his empire in the support of the military. He satisfied their covetousness. Then he subsequently deceived their greediness, and concluded by dissolving the army and ruining more or less that unhappy nation! The year following, this Emperor was banished by the Assembly, and a few months later was shot in one of the obscure federal cañons of Mexico. As soon as that empire fell the people in Mexico, seduced by the example of the Federal Republic of the United States, as you, my Republican friends, would seduce us, proclaimed the Federal Republic, supported above all by the Spanish Monarchists, who believed themselves burlesqued and sold by ITURBIDE. And when they saw that the Federal Republic did not cure their evils, but dissolved and pulverized the country, when they saw that their sister Federal Republic—the United States—stripped them of rich and extensive territories like Texas, they proclaimed the Unitarial Republic! But, gentlemen, neither with the Provisional Government, or the regency, or the empire, or the federal republic, or the unitarial republic, have that people ever been happy. Chaos and anarchy have always dominated there. It has ever been the battle field of all unpatriotic ambitions and the scandal of America, of Europe and the world. Gentlemen of the Constituent Assembly, if here we cannot terminate our revolution, if here we cannot conclude the interinity in which we are (we are the fathers of Mexico! Mexico is our child) we shall be the Mexico of Europe! In the past and in the present of the despicable and cowardly (mengando) Republic of Mexico we may contemplate the future reserved for our country!

The contemptuous allusion to the Republic of Mexico brought up PRIM in its defence.

PRIM said: I have asked the word, not to enter into the depth of the debate, but only to answer some of the remarks of Señor NOVARRO, from the manner, in my judgment little convenient, which he has adopted in treating of the Mexican Republic. He has said the Republic of Mexico was despicable and cowardly (mengando.) I must be permitted to say that a people are not menguado who have known how to sustain and defend their independence with the courage the Mexicans have displayed, not only against reactionary forces in their own country, but against the forces by which they were attacked from foreign countries. I am obliged to make this rectification from the part I had the honor to take in those events. I am also obliged to pronounce these few words from the vehement desire I have (and in which I believe I interpret the sentiments of the deputies and the country entire) to see a renewal of our relations with the Republic of Mexico and its worthy President, Señor JUAREZ.

Señor MARTIN DE HERRARA then replied generally to Señor NOVARRO. He said:

In his "rectification" Señor NOVARRO taunted PRIM, whom he called "the representative of the future monarchy of Spain"—and whatever he means by that—with not answering any of his remarks, except in defence of the Republic of Mexico, saying of it that they were a great people, because they knew how to overcome foreign armies. He (NOVARRO) believed Mexico had one great character—JUAREZ—but one great character did not constitute a great people. The French had been defeated there by the shade of WASHINGTON—by the contiguity of the United States—and by the isolation in which the rest of Europe left them—certainly not by the Mexicans, who had only one great man, JUAREZ!

PRIM—In the few words I pronounced just now I said it was not my intention to enter into the depth of the debate, and consequently I should not answer all Señor NOVARRO'S speech, which is full of ideas directed against important personages and important institutions. He has placed an elevated personage on the carpet, and, by so doing, has, in my opinion, made his cause worse. As one of the executive power and Minister of War, I shall not answer him in this, neither in the remarks he has made about my own person. I only believe I am in my place in putting a corrective to his words with respect to the Republic of Mexico. I repeat, a people are not menguado who for so many years have made such sacrifices to defend their independence and their liberty as they have proved in a struggle of giants, not only against reactionary influence, but also against forces. I do not mean by this to say that those foreign forces were beaten by the Mexicans. Those foreign forces were continuing to sustain the war, when they conceived it was convenient to fold up their banner and to retire to their country. I am citing history and nothing more. [Loud applause.]

To amendment was lost.

THE FOURTH OF JULY.

Preparations for the Celebration.

The Military Parade in the Morning—The Fireworks in the Evening—Holiday Excursions and Meetings in Honor of the Occasion.

Extensive preparations have been made for the public observance of the ninety-third anniversary of our National Independence. The First Division of the National Guard, comprising the First, Second, Third and Fourth Brigades, will parade under the command of Major-General ALEXANDER SHALER, on Monday morning, in accordance with General Orders No. 4.

The troops will assemble as follows: The First Brigade of Infantry on Fourth-street, east of Broadway; the Second Brigade of Infantry on Fourth-street, west of Broadway; the Third Brigade of Infantry on Great Jones-street; the Fourth Brigade of Infantry on Amity-street; the First Brigade of Cavalry on Bond-street. The mounted artillery will be assigned a position in column in rear of the cavalry. The column will march at 7:30 o'clock A. M., the First Brigade of Infantry leading, the other brigades following at proper intervals, in the order above-named.

The line of march will be down Broadway to Canal-street, through Canal-street to the Bowery, up the Bowery and Fourth-avenue to Twenty-third-street, through Twenty-third-street to Madison-avenue, up Madison-avenue to Thirty-fourth-street, through Thirty-fourth-street to Fifth-avenue, and down Fifth-avenue to Twenty-third-street.

As the column passes the "Travellers' Club House" on Fifth-avenue, second door above Twenty-sixth-street, on the west side, the honor of a marching salute will be paid to His Honor the Mayor. At the Worth Monument the column will pass in review before the officers of the Army of the Potomac, and immediately thereafter be dismissed.

In the marching salute to His Honor the Mayor, arms will be brought to a carry, all officers will salute, bands will play, and colors will be drooped, but commanding officers and bands will remain in the column. In passing in review before the officers of the Army of the Potomac, the provisions of Paragraphs 15, 16 and 17, Form 1, of Article Second, Appendix II., on page 372, and Paragraphs 5, 6, 7, 9, 10 and 12, of Appendix II., on pages 379 and 380, of Upton's Tactics, will be complied with.

The parade will be dismissed immediately after passing in review, and regiments complying with Par. 13, on page 380, of Upton's Tactics, will take different routes to their armories so as to avoid the possibility of a halt in front of the reviewing officers. Brigade commanders, with their staffs, will remain with the division commanders and staff, until the entire column has passed. Regimental commanders will cause at least three additional drummers or trumpeters to wheel out of the column with their bands, to beat the ruffles or sound the trumpet flourishes, for a Major-General, when the colors are drooped. The rest of the drum corps will remain at the head of the regiments, to conduct them to the armories. Bands will cease playing as soon as the rear companies of their respective regiments have passed the reviewing officers, and at once follow their regiments in quick time and in good order.

The First Brigade will form in East Fourth-street, the right resting on Broadway. The commandants of regiments will report their commands, ready formed in close column of companies, to the Chief of Staff, at 7:20 o'clock A. M.

The Third Brigade will form on Great Jones-street, in close column of companies, right in front, head of brigade resting on Broadway, at 7:10 o'clock A. M. Brigade staff will report at headquarters at 6:45 A. M., in full uniform and mounted.

The Fourth Brigade line will be formed on Amity-street, south side, right resting on Broadway, at 7 o'clock A. M. Regimental commanders will report to the Chief of Staff, corner Broadway and Amity-street, immediately upon the arrival of their commands upon the ground. The members of the Brigade Staff will assemble at Brigade Headquarters at 6:45 A. M.

The First Regiment of Artillery, Colonel TELLER commanding, will parade, dismounted, in full uniform, armed and equipped. Regimental line will be formed on Washington-square, west side, with right on Fourth-street, at 6 o'clock A. M. The Field and Commissioned Staff will report, mounted, to the Commandant, fifteen minutes before formation, on Washington-square. The non-commissioned staff and field music, and detail of one Corporal from each battery, will report to the Adjutant upon his arrival at the square. Captain P. MCGUINNESS commanding Battery D, will detail a section (with two 12-pounder howitzers) to fire a national salute from the Battery at sunrise and at noon.

The First Regiment of Infantry, Colonel JOHN K. PERLEY commanding, will parade in full uniform (field and staff mounted). Regimental line will form on Washington-place, right resting on Broadway, at 6:30 A. M.

The Second Regiment of Infantry will assemble at the Regimental Armory, corner of Hall-place and Seventh-street, fully uniformed, armed and equipped, with white gloves. Line will be formed in Hall-place, its rear resting on Seventh-street, at 6:30 o'clock A. M. The Commissioned Staff will report, mounted, to the Commandant, at 6:15 o'clock A. M. Non-commissioned staff, band, and drum corps to the Adjutant, at the same hour and place.

The First Regiment Cavalry, Colonel HENRY BRINKER commanding, will assemble on Bond-street, right on Broadway, at 6:15 o'clock A. M.

The Sixth Regiment will parade, under command of Colonel JOEL W. MASON, in full uniform, white gloves, armed and equipped. Roll call of companies at armory at 6:30 o'clock A. M. Line will form promptly at 6 o'clock in Bronome-street, between Crosby and Centre, right resting on Crosby-street. Non-commissioned staff, band and drummers will report to the Adjutant at 6 o'clock A. M., on the ground of formation. The field and staff, mounted, will report to the Colonel at the same time and place.

The Seventh Regiment, Colonel EMMONS CLARK commanding, will parade in full uniform, (white pants.) Roll call of companies at 6:30 o'clock A. M. Field and staff will report to the Colonel, and non-commissioned staff, band and drum corps will report to the Adjutant at the same hour.

The Ninth Regiment, Brevet Brigadier-General JOHN H. WILCOX commanding, will parade in full dress uniform, white cross-belts, white gloves. Members not provided with the new uniform will appear in full fatigue, white cross-belts and full-dress hat. Roll call at 6:15 o'clock A. M. at the armory. Field and staff, mounted, will report at 6 o'clock A. M.

The Eleventh Regiment, Colonel HENRY LUX commanding, will be formed in Amity-street, right resting on Mercer-street, at 6:30 o'clock A. M.

The Twelfth Regiment, Colonel JOHN WARD commanding, will parade in chasseur uniforms (epaulets, leggings and white gloves.) The regimental line will form on Lafayette-place at 7 o'clock A. M. Company roll call, at the armory, at 6:30 A. M. Field and staff will report, mounted, fifteen minutes before time of formation.

The Twenty-second Regiment will parade, under command of Lieut.-Colonel JOSIAH PORTER, in the old full-dress uniform, (white pants.) Roll-call, 6 A. M.; Adjutant's call, 6:30. Field and staff, mounted, will report to the Lieutenant-Colonel, and the non-commissioned staff, band and drum corps will report to the Adjutant at the first-named hour. Lieutenant R. KELLY STYLES is detailed to act as Adjutant until further orders, vice Captain W. C. BESSON, relieved at his own request.

The Seventy-first Regiment, Lieutenant-Colonel Harry Rockafellar commanding, will assemble in full dress (white pants) at their respective armories at 6:30 o'clock A. M. Field and staff, mounted, will report to the Commandant, and the non-commissioned staff, First Sergeants, band and drum corps to the Adjutant, at 6:40 A. M., on the parade ground, Union Square.

The Ninety-sixth Regiment, Major A. Staff commanding, will form on Bond-street at 6:30 o'clock A. M. Field and staff will appear mounted, and all officers in full uniform; pants and file in State uniforms with pompons and white gloves.

The Second Division of Brooklyn will not parade as an organization on Monday, as several of the commands intend coming over to New-York.

THE UNITED STATES TROOPS.

The following order has been issued by General MCDOWELL, commanding the Department of the East, to the United States troops in this locality:

HEADQUARTERS DEPARTMENT OF THE EAST, NEW-YORK CITY, July 1, 1869.

GENERAL ORDERS, No. 57.—The ninety-third anniversary of our National Independence occurring this year on Sunday, the day will be appropriately observed as a day of rest and military stations in this Department on Monday, the 5th inst. All labor and military duties, other than those of the necessary guards, will be suspended for the day. The troops at each post will be paraded at 11:30 A. M., and so remain until the completion of the national salute prescribed in paragraph 276, Revised Regulations.

By command of

Brevet Major-General MCDOWELL.

ROBERT C. PERRY, Acting Assistant Adjutant Gen.

THE SOCIETY OF THE CINCINNATI.

In accordance with the general order of HAMILTON FISH, President of the New-York State Society of the Cincinnati, this ancient organization will meet at the Rooms of the New-York Library, No. 67 University-place, on Monday, at 12 o'clock M., for the purpose of transacting the business of the Society, electing officers for the ensuing year, and celebrating the ninety-third anniversary of our National Independence. Members of other State Societies of the Cincinnati who may be in the City are invited to be present, and unite in celebrating the anniversary. The Standing Committee will hold a special meeting at the same place at 11 A. M.

THE TAMMANY SOCIETY.

The Tammany Society, or Columbian Order, will meet at Tammany Hall on Monday evening and celebrate the anniversary. There will be music, addresses by Hon. WM. M. TWEED, the Grand Sachem; Hon. JOHN T. STOCKTON, of New-Jersey; Governor JOHN T. HOFFMAN, Hon. GEORGE W. MILLER, of Rochester; Hon. A. OAKEY HALL, Mayor, and JOHN A. FELLOWS, Esq. The Declaration of Independence will be read by ALGERNON SIDNEY SULLIVAN, and sentiments contained in letters from distinguished brothers throughout the country, by SAMUEL B. GARVIN.

A full circular of invitation has been addressed as usual to all prominent Democrats throughout the country, as follows:

TAMMANY HALL, NEW-YORK, June 24, 1869.

DEAR SIR: On the approaching anniversary of our national independence, the Tammany Society, or Columbian Order, as its charter ordains, and its members enthusiastically desire, will meet in the Great Wigwam for fraternal council, and to commemorate the illustrious day.

An address worthy of the occasion will be delivered by a statesman of Revolutionary ancestry, Brother JOHN P. STOCKTON, United States Senator from New-Jersey, whose election in the United States Senate to Democratic principles, two years ago, selected him for Radical outrage only to be recently triumphantly vindicated by his proved constituency.

Brother ALGERNON SIDNEY SULLIVAN will read the Declaration of Independence.

Distinguished Democrats, including Hon. GEORGE W. MILLER, of Rochester, will with their eloquence, lend lustre to the great occasion.

From the time of the formation of this Society, its members have never failed to honor each anniversary of our national independence with earnestly patriotic observations. Each our Order deems it especially appropriate in this era, when we behold apparent contempt for ancient usages is indulged in by a faction, that we should emphatically remember, upon the natal day, the purpose for which the Society was instituted. That purpose, as expressed in the charter, was "to establish a great national institution, founded upon the basis of American Liberty as the political point of freemen, and to connect in indissoluble bonds the friendship of American brethren of known attachment to the political rights of the country." We also deem it vital that on this Independence Day, in the year when the man on horseback rules the political horn, there should emphasis be given to the motto of our Society:

"CIVIL LIBERTY THE GLORY OF MAN."

The Administration now in power, and their sympathisers throughout the country, seem strangely desirous that the nation should forget the days of '76, and remember in their stead the events of civil war. They seem willing that our children should be taught that anniversaries which are peculiar to the events of the Great Rebellion should usurp the place of celebrations of days that were rendered illustrious by Revolutionary events, when an elder home Government likewise oppressed what were called "its struggling colonies." The Radical Party prefers to embrace some occasion that seems to consummate a fresh amendment to the glorious old Constitution, rather than to commemorate the anniversary of national independence, once so revered by men of all parties.

Therefore, Against an obliteration of Revolutionary landmarks and a reproduction of old Federalism in its worst aspects the Democracy of old Tammany, ever fought against treason and disunion, but held to the best rights of the States and an honest adherence to the Constitution and a frugal administration of the Government, ought on every Fourth of July and as long as Radical domination continues, to utter their solemn protest against it; and in the year when President GRANT publicly thanks Massachusetts for "having done so much for MY support," the Columbian Order ought to remember that GEORGE WASHINGTON, the great founder of the Republic, during a seven years' war, never once interfered with the civil power.

Believing that you sympathise with these ideas, (and many others of momentous national importance which they imply,) we cordially invite you to meet with us at Tammany Hall, in Fourteenth-street, near Union-square, in the City of New-York, on the 5th of July, and to participate in the ceremonies of the Tammany Society.

HENRY VANDEWATER, Treasurer.
STEPHEN C. DURYEA, Wiskinskie.
WILSON G. HUNT, Sachem.
JAMES SEALS, Secretary.
JAMES WATSON, Scribe of the Council.
WILLIAM M. TWEED, Grand Sachem.

The Sachems of the Society will afterward dine together.

EXCURSIONS.

A great many of our citizens make it a point to absent themselves from the Metropolis on the Fourth. Some go the day before, not to return until the day after. Many seize the opportunity to make short excursions up the river, down the bay or into the adjacent country. Numerous pleasure trips, by water and by rail, are advertised in our columns, and the reader who proposes to spend the day in this way can take his choice. The new summer arrangement of the South Side Railroad of Long Island will invite many visitors to Fire Island, Islip, Rockaway and other pleasant places of resort to be reached by that route. The steamer Continental makes a trip to New-Haven and back every morning here at 8 A. M., and New-Haven, returning, at 11 P. M. The Norwalk and Sylvan Stream ply frequently between this City and Coney Island, whither they will doubtless convey a great many people on the 5th. The Vanderbilt last evening took an excursion party to Troy, en route for Saratoga Springs, where they are to spend to-day and Sunday. The Sleepy Hollow, on the 5th, will make an excursion to West Point, Cold Spring and Newburg, stopping at Yonkers each way. The steamboat Antelope makes an excursion up the Hudson, stopping at the principal places between New-York and Peekskill. On Monday the Vanderbilt makes an excursion up the Hudson and around Staten Island.

POLICE ARRANGEMENTS.

The Police have been directed to strenuously enforce the law forbidding the discharge of fire-arms and the use of dangerous fireworks. The following order, directed to the Police Captains of the various precincts, is issued by the Superintendent of Police to-day:

OFFICE OF THE SUPERINTENDENT OF METROPOLITAN POLICE, No. 300 Mulberry-street, NEW-YORK, July 2, 1869.

GENERAL ORDER NO. 571.—You will secure all fire-arms taken from persons who may be arrested for improperly discharging the same, and deliver them to the Property Clerk on the day after the arrest, properly labeled with the name of the person from whom taken and the time when, the place where and the policeman by whom taken. In order that the Fire Departments in the Cities of New-York and Brooklyn may be aided during the approaching holiday, in preventing extensive conflagrations, you will afford every assistance in your power to prevent false alarms of fire from being raised, and in communicating by telegraph such intelligence relative to fires and alarms of fires, as the respective Fire Commissioners and the Chief and Assistant Engineers may desire, during the 4th, 5th and 6th days of July instant.

JOHN A. KENNEDY, Superintendent.

GEO. W. DILKS, Inspector.

THE WEST-SIDE NUISANCE.

The Rendering Company—Investigation by the Board of Health of Their Operations.

An examination was held yesterday afternoon, by Mr. SETH C. HAWLEY, Chief Clerk of the Board of Health, in regard to the alleged nuisance at the foot of Thirty-eighth-street, North River, created by the New-York Rendering Company. As was stated in the TIMES of yesterday, the Company have fitted up two steamers upon which they boil dead horses, oxen, cats and dogs found in the streets, together with a large quantity of refuse from slaughter-houses. Much oil, fat and bones are obtained from the animals, and the residue is sold for manure. The enterprise has proved exceedingly profitable, and the stockholders are very loth to relinquish their position at the wharf. As complaints have been very numerous, however, concerning the noxious gases emitted from the establishment throughout the neighborhood, the Company have been required by the Board of Health to show cause why their license to operate in the City should not be revoked.

Testimony was taken yesterday entirely for the defence, and Messrs. GEORGE A. CAULFIELD and G. A. GOODRICH, President and Vice-President of the Company, together with Mr. G. A. CARTER, a trustee, and C. J. EVERETT, one of the inventors of the apparatus, endeavored by minute descriptions of the arrangements, to prove that disagreeable odors could not escape, and that the effluvia perceived by the complainants must have existed in their imagination, or have proceeded from some of the slaughter-houses, tripe-cleaning or fat-boiling establishments, with which the vicinity abounds.

Testimony of complainants will be heard to-day at 1 o'clock by Drs. HARRIS and MORRIS, of the Board of Health. Nearly one hundred gentlemen were present who reside at various points near Thirty-eighth-street, from Tenth to Third avenues. All desired to testify that the 'stench, at times, blew stenches into their residences which much destroyed their equanimity. One gentleman complained, in conversation, that his rest had been entirely broken the night before by the sickening air he breathed.

The Grand-street Ferry.

There is a ferry now plying between Grand-street, New-York, and Grand-street, Williamsburg, the history of which shows the exceedingly loose manner in which the affairs of the City Government are conducted. Ten years ago the franchise of this ferry was let to J. V. MESEROLE, F. DUNCAN, GERRIT SMITH, and others, at the yearly rental of $15,000. Of this sum no portion has ever been paid, as far as the records show. The original holders of the franchise, years ago, transferred it to other parties, and these gentlemen have proved to be just as unprofitable tenants in this City as the first holders. Thus for ten years the City has been losing $15,000 a year without making any effort whatever to obtain payment of the amount. Of course the proper plan to pursue was for the Corporation counsel to commence a suit against the proprietors of the ferry for nonpayment of rent, eject them, and rent the franchise. No such action has, however, been taken. The proprietors of the ferry have been quietly pocketing their profits for ten years past without paying one dollar of rent to the City Government. On the 1st of May last the lease of the ferry expired, but no action looking to the reletting of the franchise has been taken. Can not the Commissioners of the Sinking Fund, in whose hands the matter now rests, find time to look into this little matter, involving $15,000 a year? Of course no one expects that the bank rents of the ferry, amounting to $150,000, will ever be recovered. Another item to the City Government, whose account has been allowed to get into arrears, is safe, as every one knows, but it seems that some effort might be made to prevent such loss in the future.

THE OCEAN BANK ROBBERY.

A Large Reward Offered—Inventory of the Stolen Bonds, &c.

The Board of Directors of the Ocean National Bank have directed Mr. C. S. STEVENSON, the Cashier, to offer a reward of $25,000 for the arrest and final conviction of the party or parties who robbed the bank between the evening of the 26th and the morning of the 28th of June. The Bank also promises to pay for the recovery and return of the money stolen 25 per cent. of the amount returned; also, for the recovery and return of United States bonds, 10 per cent. of the amount returned; also, a liberal percentum for the return of miscellaneous securities. The following is a correct list of the property stolen:

Successful Picking of the Combination Lock by an Expert.

The inference that the burglars who opened the safe of the Ocean Bank must have previously known the particular combination by which it was locked, seems not to be well grounded. On the day after the burglary Mr. W. F. ENSIGN, an experienced locksmith, by the use of ingenious tools picked the bank lock in a few minutes, though the combination was not the same that the burglars had succeeded with. Yesterday he tried the lock again as it was set on the night of the burglary, and was again successful. He used very simple tools and worked about four hours. As soon as he had opened the door the second time, he remarked that he was prepared to open any other combination in half an hour. This result greatly relieves the minds of the only two persons in the bank who knew what the combination of the lock was at the time of the robbery. Mr. ENSIGN has shown that the burglars need not necessarily have received previous information about the safe. They could have opened it as he did without knowing the combination at all.

Gross Irregularities in the Reformatory System of the House of Refuge—A Girl Released on Habeas Corpus.

An intelligent girl, in her sixteenth year, was yesterday brought before Judge MCCUNN, on a writ of habeas corpus, sued out in her behalf against the Superintendent of the House of Refuge. Testimony was taken in the case as to the hours of work, food, mode of punishment, and means generally adopted for purposes of reformation.

According to the testimony of the girl, the entire day, from 5 o'clock in the morning until 10 P. M., with the exception of short intervals before 9 and after 4, is devoted by both boys and girls to contract work. She stated also that the cells were smaller than the cells of the City Prison; that the bedding was a straw tick on an iron bedstead; that both boys and girls were punished with leather straps about half an inch wide and about eighteen inches long attached to sticks, the boys receiving this punishment at the hands of the Superintendent and the girls at the Matron's; that an attempt to escape is punished by a shower-bath of lime water, and that the food is bad, the coffee being filled with cockroaches, and the bread unpalatable. She was subsequently transferred as a domestic to the family of Mr. SPROUL, on the Island, where, so far as it appeared by the testimony, she was kept constantly at work during the entire day, without any opportunity of attending school, or otherwise availing of the benefit of any reformatory system for which the institution was founded. The crime for which she was sentenced was that of taking a cloak from a little girl in the street, and at the time, she was brought by the Magistrate that she was sentenced for only one day, whereas the commitment was for an indefinite period.

GEO. MCCOFFIN, a caterer at the House of Refuge, was examined on behalf of the Superintendent, and gave a statement of the bill of fare, which, so far as the names of things are concerned, was good enough. The item of "cat-of-fourtails" he did not deny, but stated in explanation that it was only resorted to in "extreme cases." The alleged shower-bath in the girl's department he represented as a water tank used in case of fire, but not bathing as to what arrangements of this kind existed in the boy's department.

Judge MCCUNN, after hearing the whole testimony, decided to discharge the girl, and did so discharge her, on the grounds, first, that the commitment was defective in being without limit as to time; and second, that the girl, with many others of both boys and girls, as appeared in the testimony, was detained not for reformatory purposes as contemplated by the statute, but as prisoners, to enrich contractors by their labor.

Arrest of a Railroad Superintendent.

Early on Thursday evening JOHN M. HUDSON, of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, stopped one of the Broadway line of cars, and, with the assistance of Officer MURPHY, of the Fifteenth Precinct, unharnessed one of the horses from the car. He claimed that the animal was lame and unfit for use, in justification of the act. JAMES MCCABE, superintendent of the road, witnessed the occurrence, and interfered for the purpose of having the horse released. He told HUDSON that the animal was fit to drive, and the latter, it is alleged, then stepped forward him as if to strike him. MCCABE subsequently struck HUDSON, and was taken into custody by Officer MURPHY. Later in the evening Justice LUDWIGH appeared at the Station-house and opened Court behind the Captain's desk. He made an examination of the case and suffered MCCABE to go on his own recognizance to appear at Jefferson Market Police Court on the following (yesterday) morning. He has since been discharged.

Distressing Accident.

Two painters named E. B. EVANS and WILLIAM SIMPSON were dangerously hurt yesterday morning by falling from a scaffold at No. 260 West Sixteenth-street. They were engaged at work on the scaffold, which was a distance of nearly one hundred feet from the sidewalk. SIMPSON had one of his ankles broken, and was removed to his home at No. 240 West Fortieth-street in great suffering. EVANS received a fracture on the skull, besides having both of his legs broken. It is believed that he cannot possibly survive his injuries. Dr. VAN BUREN ordered his removal to Bellevue Hospital, where he now lies.

Coroners' Cases.

An inquest was held yesterday by Coroner ROLLINS, at No. 7 Gay-street, over the body of PATRICK CLIFFORD, who was supposed to come to his death through violence at the hands of EDWARD FLEMING and others. It appears, however, from the evidence that the deceased and FLEMING did not quarrel, but were wrestling in a friendly way, when CLIFFORD fell backward, and had an ankle sprained. The post-mortem examination by Dr. JOHN BEACH showed that death had resulted from gastritis and degeneration of the liver. The prisoner FLEMING was, accordingly, released from custody.

Coroner KELLOGG will hold an inquest over the remains of FRANCIS J. MANNING, who sustained fatal injuries a few days ago by being caught between a Grand-street ferry-boat and the bridge.

POLICE TRANSFERS.

Wholesale Changes of the Police Captains—Sixteen in New-York and Six in Brooklyn Transferred.

The long-threatened and much-discussed transfers of Police Captains have at last been ordered by the Police Commissioners; and the changes are even more sweeping and numerous than had been anticipated by those having the best opportunity to judge of the probable intentions of the Commissioners. The following is the list of transfers of Captains:

NEW-YORK.

Henry Burden, from First Precinct to Twenty-ninth Precinct.

Thomas W. Thorn, from Fourth Precinct to Twenty-first Precinct.

Thaddeus C. Davis, from Tenth Precinct to Thirtieth Precinct.

Edward Walsh, from Eleventh Precinct to Fourteenth Precinct.

Ira S. Garland, from Fourteenth Precinct to First Precinct.

Charles W. Caffrey, from Fifteenth Precinct to Twentieth Precinct.

James Todd, from Nineteenth Precinct to Twenty-fourth Precinct.

Henry Hedden, from Twentieth Precinct to Fifteenth Precinct.

Anthony J. Allaire, from Twenty-first Precinct to Fourth Precinct.

John J. Ward, from Twenty-second Precinct to Tenth Precinct.

Henry Hutchings, from Twenty-third Precinct to Nineteenth Precinct.

Jedediah W. Hartt, from Twenty-fourth Precinct to Twenty-third Precinct.

Thomas Steers, from Twenty-seventh Precinct to Twenty-eighth Precinct.

John F. Dickson, from Twenty-eighth Precinct to Eleventh Precinct.

Frank C. Speight, from Twenty-ninth Precinct to Twenty-seventh Precinct.

Johannes Slott, from Thirtieth Precinct to Twenty-second Precinct.

BROOKLYN.

William H. Rhodes, from Forty-third Precinct to Forty-seventh Precinct.

James Powers, from Fiftieth Precinct to Forty-fourth Precinct.

J. R. Waddy, from Forty-fourth Precinct to Forty-third Precinct.

Albert Stearns, from Forty-seventh Precinct to Fiftieth Precinct.

Enoch Jacobs, from Forty-second Precinct to Forty-first Precinct.

William E. Smith, from Forty-first Precinct to Forty-second Precinct.

All of these transfers are ordered to take effect on the 15th of July.

In addition to those transfers Sergeant ISAAC W. POTTER, in charge of the Essex Market Police Court Squad, was transferred to the Eleventh Precinct, vice Sergeant ANDREW J. THOMPSON, who relieves in the Essex Market command.

No action of the Police Commissioners has ever been more radical as this. Many of the Captains have been in the precincts from which they are now transferred for many years, and their ideas and manner of doing business had become so engrafted on their commands as to become laws to their men, paramount, even, to the rules and regulations of the Commissioners. Captain SPEIGHT, for instance, had been in the Twenty-ninth for about ten years. Captain CAFFREY had been nine years in the Fifteenth, Captain DAVIS had been in the Tenth about eight years, and the average time of the New-York Captains in the precinct from whence transferred has been about five years. The Captain being in his precinct something of an irresponsible autocrat, it can be easily seen that these transfers strike at the very root of things and overturn manifold combinations, and perhaps some abuses and some good usages. It is very certain that the changes will jar the Police force out of ruts wherein it has long been running, whether for good or ill, and that it will be some time before it will be found working smoothly again.

Some of the most capable and experienced of the captains are affected by the changes, but in these cases, like those of Captains THORNE, ALLAIRE, and others, the Commissioners have sent them to districts equally needing efficient officers. In the case of Captain TODD, sent to the Twenty-fourth, which is the Harbor Police boat, the change is merely the reëstablishment of an old order of things, as he formerly commanded the boat and gave general satisfaction in that capacity.

It will be noticed that Captain PETTY, of the Fifth and Captain MILLS, of the Eighth, are not included in the list; and it is rumored that the difficulty of agreeing upon one or both of these cases has thus long delayed these transfers which have been at last unanimously agreed upon. Whatever considerations have induced the changes have acted equally upon the four members of the Board.

In addition to making these transfers, the Board, at the protracted meeting of yesterday afternoon, passed the following resolution:

Resolved, That on and after the 1st day of November next, each officer and member of the force must reside in the county in which he is assigned to duty.

POLICE TRIALS.

Fights Between the Police and Their Prisoners; and Among the Police Themselves.

At the Police Courts, yesterday, Commissioner BRENNAN heard evidence on seventy-eight complaints against officers. Some of the accusations were of a serious character, others produced considerable humor, but the most of them were the ordinary charges preferred by Sergeants and Captains.

AN UNRULY PRISONER SEEKS REDRESS.

JOHN NASH, of the Fourth Precinct, was complained of by THOMAS POWERS, of No. 278 Front-street, for having clubbed him in his own house on the 22d inst. It appeared from the evidence that the complainant fought the officer vigorously, attempting to stab him with a knife. The case was referred to the Board.

FIGHT BETWEEN OFFICERS.

Captain JOURDAN, of the Sixth Precinct, charged four of his men, named THOMAS HEARAN, THOMAS LONG, M. ROLLY and MICHAEL DORNEY, with engaging in a scrimmage among themselves in the yard of No. 22 City Hall-place. The proprietor of the saloon, in the rear of which the fracas occurred, testified that he saw DORNEY and HOLLY fighting, and noticed that the others were trying to separate them. It was referred to the Board as a disgraceful affair.

The McVeany-Collin Case.

On motion of Mr. MCADAM, counsel for Mr. MCVEANY, Judge BARNARD, of the Supreme Court, yesterday granted an order to show cause, returnable on the third Monday of July, inst., why a peremptory mandamus should not issue to put him (MCVEANY) in the place of Mr. CULKIN, as a member of the Board of Assistant Aldermen from the Ninth District, in pursuance of the judgment of Judge MULLEN.

New Mexican Minister to the United States.

An American editor of the Two Republics, a newspaper published in Mexico, thus alludes to the new Minister to this country:

"We are happy to announce that Mr. IGNACIO MARISCAL, the present Minister of Justice, has been appointed by the President, and approved by Congress, Minister to the United States. This is about the best appointment that could be made. Mr. MARISCAL is talented, a fine lawyer, is well acquainted with international law, speaks and writes the English language fluently and eleganty, and is well and favorably known among the people to whom he will be sent. Mr. MARISCAL had at an earlier day been tendered this position, but bad health and other circumstances prompted him to decline it. He has finally accepted, and will leave for Washington in the course of a month, after arranging some business in his Ministry, which devolved upon him by the recent action of Congress, based upon his initiations."

maturing on the 5th of July must be paid on the Saturday previous, July 3. A large amount of paper is usually payable on the 4th of each month; and it is important to bankers to ascertain the day when unpaid bills should be protested. The following is the second section of the Act passed by the Legislature of New-York, March 18, 1865:

The following days, viz.: Any day appointed or recommended by the Governor of this State or the President of the United States, as a day of fast or thanksgiving; the 4th day of July; the 25th day of December, commonly called Christmas Day; the 1st day of January, commonly called New-Year's Day; and the 22d day of February; and when the said 4th day of July, 25th day of December, 1st day of January, or the 22d day of February, shall occur on Sunday, then the ensuing day thereto shall, for all purposes whatsoever, as regards the presenting for payment or acceptance, and of the protesting and giving notice of the dishonor of bills of exchange, bank checks and promissory notes, made after the passage of this act, be treated and considered as the first day of the week, commonly called Sunday. And any bill of exchange, bank check, or promissory note, made after the passage of this act, which but for this act would fall due and be payable on any of the days herein mentioned, shall, when said days fall on Sunday, become due and payable on the Tuesday next succeeding such days.

Common to choice Extra Missouri, Kansas and Southern Flour continues in demand at steady prices; sales have been reported since our last of 850 bbls. at $4 20@$5 80 for very poor to fair ordinary, and $6 80@$12 75 for fair ordinary to very superior Extra. ₱ bbl. California Flour is in moderate request at $6,25@$9 for extras; Oregon at $6 25@$9 75 ₱ 196 lbs.; sales 400 bbls. and sacks. Rye Flour continues quiet at $4@$6 50 for very inferior to very choice, ₱ bbl.; sales 250 bbls. Cornmeal has been in more demand at $4@$4 50 for Western, $4 10@$4 25 for Jersey, and $4 75@$4 85 for Brandywine, ₱ bbl.; sales 550 bbls.

GRAIN—Wheat has been in active demand for export at a further advance of 2c.@3c. ₱ bushel, though closing less buoyantly. Winter Wheat has been rather more sought after; desirable lots are quoted 2c.@3c. higher. Of the entire property of our last year's crop, 206,500 bushels, part to arrive, including White Western, part at $1 70@$1 82; Red and Amber do. at $1 42@$1 60; No. 1 Spring, part to arrive, at $1 52@$1 53; No. 2 Spring at $1 45@$1 48, closing at $1 47 for the best; No. 1 and 2 Spring, Mixed, at $1 49@$1 50; No. 3 Spring at $1 36@$1 40; No. 2 and 3 Spring, Mixed, at $1 42; and White California at $1 65@$1 75 ₱ bushel. Corn has been in more demand and quoted firmer. Sales have been reported since our last of 67,500 bushels at 64c.@82c. for damaged New Mixed Western, received by canal; 83c.@87c. for common to choice New Mixed Western, by canal; 85c.@88½c. for New Mixed Western, received by rail; 90c.@93c. for white; 89c.@92c. for Yellow Western, ₱ bushel. Rye has been quoted steady, but inactive, on a very light offering. Nothing new in Barley or Barley Malt. Oats have been in active request, partly on speculative account, and have again advanced. Sales have been reported since our last of 72,500 bushels Western at 77c.@79c., closing at 78c. afloat ₱ bushel. The export clearances have been 2,429 bbls. Flour and 94,996 bushels Wheat for Liverpool; 660 bbls. Flour and 21,355 bushels Wheat for London; 22,547 bushels Wheat for Cork and orders; 21,644 bushels Wheat for Penarth Roads and orders, and 11,000 bushels Rye for Rotterdam. Freights have been very irregular. The boats which passed Fultonville between noon on Wednesday and noon on Thursday covered 19 cargoes of Lumber, 12 of Wheat, 9 of Corn, 8 of Coal, 5 of Staves, 2 of Hay, 1 each of Iron, Salt, Oats, Oil, Stone and Shooks. The following is the list of boats which passed Fultonville during 24 hours prior to 1:30 P. M., July 1, 1869:

HOPS—Continue in fair demand and firm, including New American at 6c.@12c. for New, and 2c.@8c. for Old ₱ lb. We quote in detail thus: New-York State, 7c.@12c.; Eastern, 6c.@10c.; Wisconsin, 6c.@10c.; Michigan, 6c.@10c.; Yearlings, all grades, 2c.@3c. ₱ lb. The receipts have been 326 bales: export clearances, 93 bales. The week's movements in this line Mr. EMMET WELLS notices thus: "While the firmness which has characterized our market during the last few weeks has increased, under the influence of continued discouraging reports of the growing crop in England and Wisconsin, we are are unable to report any advance in prices above our revised quotations of last week. In fact, but little, if any improvement in values need be looked for, while receipts continue so heavy. A review of these reports, from the beginning of last April up to the present time, thirteen weeks, shows that the average weekly receipts have been 1,440 bales, (a fact unprecedented in the annals of the Hop trade,) while the average weekly exports during the same period foot up 1,847 bales. By these figures there has been taken by local consumption, an excess of exports over receipts of only 5,300 bales; this, in addition to the small quantity which has been taken by local brewers, has scarcely produced any impression upon our immense stocks. How long these large receipts will continue, no one in the trade here even ventures a prediction. The only question and every one seems to be, 'where do all the Hops come from?' There yet remains but three months before the advent of the new crop. During that time, it is hoped, the demand from England will continue to an extent sufficient to relieve us of our surplus, that we may be able to open the new season's business with a clean market. Although the present prospects are not very flattering for a large crop the coming year, we are disposed to hold their present stock, with a view of getting higher prices, but sell whenever an opportunity affords. There is likely to be no demand other than for export during the remainder of the season, and those who neglect to take advantage of the present active market may find great difficulty in disposing of their Hops after the new crop is put upon the market. The surplus now on hand, which, under favorable circumstances, is likely to be carried into the new season, will not fall far short of 25,000 bales. Concerning the crop prospects, a writer in Juneau County, Wis., says: 'Since I last had the pleasure of writing you, a great change has come over the spirit of the Hop growers in this region. Not more than from 30 to 40 per cent. of last year's acreage is under cultivation at this writing, what are being cultivated are allowed to grow with very little care. If the insects prove very destructive, but a small portion of the crop will be harvested.' The following is what a correspondent says of Baraboo, Sauk County, Wis.: 'Our yards swarm are all over with lice; just came from one yard in which every leaf, twig and tendril swarm. I never saw anything like it. On many leaves you cannot put the point of a needle between them. None of the yards around here are exceptions, and I believe the danger is the same all over the county. There is no exaggeration in what I write you, and unless there be a vast improvement, you may set Wisconsin down as a failure, if not quite a total failure.' Franklin County, N. Y.—'Owing to the cold, wet and backward weather we have had this Spring, Hops are quite backward, and no appearance of lice as yet.' We fear of no increase of Vermin throughout Central New-York. The weather, same as in Franklin, has been wet and cold. Some of the districts are entirely free from lice, while in others there is only a slight sprinkling. Exports last week, 2,002 bales; receipts, 1,115 bales; total exports for the season, from the port of New-York, 52,795 bales. Our London correspondent favors us with the following, under date of June 19: 'Since I last wrote, our market has been very firm for nearly every class of Hops, but cannot be called active, in spite of the present prospects of a short crop. The large stock in consumers' hands, and the heavy remains still remaining of last year's growth, will effectually prevent any material advance in prices, until blight and failure are unmistakable. Plantation reports, so far, are unfavorable. Vermin appear to be increasing, and the low temperature and prevailing easterly winds operate very much against the appearance of the plant. Continental reports seem very favorable, and, from our own; the plant looks wonderfully and uneven, and vermin on the increase. Foreign markets continue firm but without much business.'

HIDES—Have been steady but dull since our last.

LEATHER—Sole has been in moderate request, including Hemlock, Buenos Ayres, Heavy, 28c.@29½c.; Hemlock, Buenos Ayres, Middle, 31½c.@32c.; Hemlock, Buenos Ayres, Light, 35c.@36c.; Hemlock, California, Heavy, 27c.@28c.; Hemlock, California, Middle, 30½c.@31½c.; Hemlock, California, Light, 30½c.@31½c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, &c., Heavy, 25c.@27c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, &c., Middle, 29½c.@31c.; Hemlock, Orinoco, &c., Light, 29½c.@31c.; Hemlock, Good Damaged, all kinds and weights, 24c.@28c.; Hemlock, Poor Damaged, all kinds and weights, 21c.@23c.; Oak Slaughter, Heavy, in the Rough, 38c.@40c.; Oak Slaughter, Heavy, 40c.@46c.; Oak Slaughter, Middle, 38c.@46c.; Oak Slaughter, Light, 38c.@43c.; Oak Slaughter, Cropped, Heavy, 45c.@50c.; Oak Slaughter, Cropped, Middle, 44c.@45c.; Oak Slaughter, Cropped, Light, 42c.@46c.; Oak Slaughter, in the Rough, Heavy, 38c.@45c.; Oak Slaughter, in the Rough, Middle, 38c.@43c.; Oak Slaughter, in the Rough, Light, 40c.@44c.; Oak Slaughter, Bellies, 22c.@24c. ₱ lb.

OILS—Have been quiet to-day at former rates, including Crude Whale at $1 03@$1 05; Bleached Whale at $1 12½@$1 15; Crude Sperm at $1 80@$1 90; Bleached Sperm at $1 97½@$2; Refined Sperm, $2 03@$2 05; Lard Oil at $1 42½@$1 50; Red Oil at 90c.@95c.; Linseed Oil at $1 02½@$1 03, chiefly at $1 01@$1 03, in casks and barrels; Menhaden, 75c.@78c.; Olive at $1 40@$1 45; Spermaceti, 95c. ₱ gallon.

PETROLEUM—Trade has been quite dull, as a rule. The Philadelphia delivery controversies have had the effect of impeding regular business negotiations. Crude, in bulk, was quiet, at about previous figures. Barreled Crude was neglected and nominal. There were no receipts of Crude acknowledged here; 2,100 bbls. were received at Philadelphia, making the total arrivals there since June 1 to 6,69 bbls. No exports. Refined Oil has been lightly purchased, yet quoted generally steady here at 32c. for Standard White ₱ gallon. Sales were reported here of 1,000 bbls. Standard White, for prompt delivery, part at 32c., and 1,000 bbls. do., for the last half of July delivery, at 32½c. ₱ gallon; and at Philadelphia, 500 bbls. Standard White, for immediate delivery, on private terms; 700 bbls. do., for last half July delivery, at 32c.; and, by auction, for account of whom it may concern," 1,500 bbls. do., at 31 13-16c. ₱ gallon. The receipts of Refined Oil here were 2,982 bbls.; at Philadelphia, today, 1,100 bbls., and for the week, 12,000 bbls.; at Boston, none. Shipments included, 129,161 gallons by the bark Cedar, for Bremen; 4,325 bbls. by the ship John Bertram, for Hamburg, and 2,550 bbls. by the bark Noah, for Stettin. Nothing really reported in the Crude Petroleum line. Naphtha quiet.

PROVISIONS—Pork has been lightly dealt in, opening at lower and irregular prices, but closing more firmly. Sales have been reported since our last of 945 bbls. at $23 50@$24 for Prime Mess, and $26@$27 for Prime and Extra Prime, ₱ bbl. Cutmeats are quite buoyant. SUGARS—Business has been on a limited scale today, though buyers have had any existing advantage as to price. Sales have been reported, since our last, of 610 hhds. Cuba, &c., at 10¼c.@10¾c. for Refining, and to good refining grades Cuba have been quoted heavy at 11¼c.@11¾c.; fair to very good grocery grades at from 11¾c.@12¼c.; very good to prime do. at 12¼c.@12¾c.; Porto Rico grocery grades at from 12c.@12¾c. ₱ lb. No. 12 Box Sugar, 12¾c.@12¾c. ₱ lb. We quote Box Sugar in detail thus: Boxed Dutch Standard, Nos. 7 to 9, at 11¼c.@11¾c.; Boxes Dutch Standard, Nos. 10 to 13, at 12¼c.@12¾c.; Boxes Dutch Standard, Nos. 13 to 15, at 12¼c.@13¼c.; Boxes Dutch Standard, Nos. 16 to 18, at 13¾c.@14¼c.; Boxes Dutch Standard, Nos. 19 to 20, at 15c.@15¼c.; Boxes Dutch Standard, No. 21, at 15¾c.@15¾c.; Boxed Bagged Sugar thus: Brazil, Dutch Standard, Nos. 8 to 12, at 11c.@12c.; Java, Dutch Standard, Nos. 10 to 12, at 12c.@12¼c.; Manilla, Current Clayed and Superior, at 10¾c.@11¼c. ₱ lb. Refined Sugars are quiet, at from 12¼c.@15¾c. ₱ lb. as extremes.

TALLOW, &c.—Sales have been reported of 75,000 lbs. Tallow at 11¾c.@11¾c.; also 46,500 lbs. Stearine at 13c.@13¼c., and 15,000 lbs. Oleine at 12¾c.@13¼c. ₱ lb.

TEAS—Have been very sparingly purchased since our last, including Gunpowder and Imperial from 81@$1 90; Hyson at from 90c.@$1 65; Young Hyson, do., at 70c.@$1 10; Uncolored Japan at from 80c.@$1 25; Oolong at from 70c.@$1 60; Souchong and Congo at from 70c.@$1 50 ₱ lb.

TOBACCO—Apart from the large export dealings in Kentucky on Wednesday, already reported by us, business has been comparatively tame, without change in prices. The three days' sales include 971 hhds. Kentucky at 7c.@11¼c.; 150 cases State Seed Leaf at 10c.@20½c.; 100 cases Connecticut on private terms, and 150 bales Havana at 95c.@$1 10 ₱ lb.

WHISKY—Has been in rather more request at 98¾c.@$1 ₱ gallon, closing quiet.

FREIGHTS—Have been quoted less firm, on a restricted business. For Liverpool, there were taken 350 bales Cotton, by steam, at ¼d. ₱ lb.; 1,700 bbls. Flour, part by steam, at 2s. ₱ bbl.; 1,000 bushels Wheat, by sail and 8d. by steam, ₱ bushel; 580 bales Hops, by steam, at ¼d. ₱ lb.; 130 boxes Bacon at 25s.; 2,700 boxes Cheese at 40s. ₱ ton. For London, 2,500 bbls. Flour at 2s. ₱ bbl. For Cork, 1,000 bbls. at 30s. each. For Glasgow, 300 bbls. Resin at 2s. 9d. ₱ 280 lbs. For Cork and orders, a North German bark, with 2,200 quarters Wheat at 6s. 3d. ₱ quarter, with a 210 grantry for the master. For Cadiz, an English brig, with 9,000 bushels Wheat at 6s. 6d. ₱ quarter. For Antwerp, 200 bags Coffee at 27s. 6d. ₱ ton; 20 hhds. Tobacco at 32s. 6d. each; and an American bark, with 3,200 bbls. Naphtha at 4s. 9d. ₱ bbl.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

EUROPE.

A manifesto has been issued by the Republican Junta of New-Castile, Spain, recommending reorganization of the new Ministry, and affirming the right of insurrection.

The Viceroy of Egypt arrived in Brussels from London, yesterday.

The Ecumenical Council at Rome has been postponed a year.

CUBA.

Insubordination among the Catalonian volunteers guarding the Nuevitas Railroad, is reported. They have seized General LETONA at Puerto Principe, and, it is said, will kill him. His offence is the imprisonment of their Colonel, who had communicated to him their request to be placed at once in active service. The new Captain-General has requested journalists to use more moderation, endeavor to conciliate the classes, and to refrain from publishing irritating articles. It is reported that a number of Americans captured by General LESCA have been executed. By the arrival of the steamer Columbia, from Havana, via Nassau, we have advices from our special correspondent, giving details of the situation, the attack on the Jesuits through the Press and their reply. The local Cuban news is unimportant but interesting. A Government vessel, with a number of Deputy Marshals on board, has been sent to Gardiner's Island, to arrest the men of the unsuccessful expedition who escaped from the first pursuit of the United States authorities. It is reported that these men have fought among themselves, resulting in the death of three, and are constantly committing depredations upon the farmers in the locality.

GENERAL.

The French cable is "all right" again, and the Great Eastern has begun the work of paying out.

A physician of Platin, Mo., one Dr. A. HILL, reports that the notorious desperado and outlaw SAM HILDEBRAND, for whose head a reward of $10,000 has been offered, is dead. He declares that the fellow died from the effects of a wound in his thigh, and that he attended him at the request of some person to himself unknown.

The sentence passed on Mrs. E. A. POLLARD, of imprisonment in the Richmond City Jail, for the assault on Dr. G. A. MOORE, was modified a day or two ago by Judge GILMOR to a fine of $100 and costs, at the instance of Dr. MOORE himself. The fine was promptly paid, and Mrs. POLLARD was released and at once proceeded to Washington.

A small ferry boat on the Ohio containing ten or twelve passengers, was struck by a tugboat, near Cincinnati on Thursday evening, and completely demolished. Four or five of her passengers were drowned.

Mr. GEORGE PEABODY has added a million dollars in railroad and other bonds, mostly Southern, to the "Peabody Education Fund," so called, and $384,000 in Florida 6 per cent. bonds, and over-due coupons.

The French corvette, Curieux, from Martinique, is in Quarantine at Fortress Monroe with vomito on board. The Captain, first officer and surgeon have already died, and the assistant surgeon is dying. It is stated that she will take in provisions and coal as soon as possible and proceed North.

A woman has been arrested in Cambridge, Mass., for whipping her stepson, a boy of 6 years, to death.

A chain bridge, crowded with people on their way to a barbacue, from Richmond to Vauxhall's Island, adjoining the city, yesterday, fell with a crash, and sixty people were carried down with it. Colonel BRANCH, a prominent Richmond broker, and Conservative candidate for the Senate, was instantly killed; others were killed or fatally injured.

It is announced that about half of the Companies in all the Pennsylvania coal districts will recommence work on the 5th inst. A basis of terms proposed by the Miners' Association at Summit Hill, though not quite satisfactory, has been accepted by the Lehigh Coal and Navigation Company, and they will begin work with others on the 5th.

The New-Hampshire Printers' Association will meet at Plymouth on the 15th inst. F. P. MILLER, editor of the Portsmouth Chronicle, will deliver an address, and GEORGE A. MARDEN, editor of the Lowell Courier, will read a poem. An excursion on Lake Winnipesogee will be part of the programme.

The Massachusetts State constables are attempting to enforce the new Prohibitory Liquor law throughout the State, and trouble is still feared in some of the larger places. The penalties under the law are heavy; for a single sale it is $10 fine and from twenty to thirty days' imprisonment; for a second violation, $20 and from thirty to sixty days' imprisonment; and for any subsequent violation, $50 and from three to six months' imprisonment, with an extra month in each case when the fine is not paid. The keeping with intent to sell is punished by $10 fine and twenty days' imprisonment. The seller is liable for all damage done by the buyer and drinker, while drunk, and any person arrested for drunkenness can escape prosecution by appearing as a witness against the man of whom he purchased his liquor. These are only a few of the more important provisions.

WEAVER, who was recently sentenced to be hanged for murder by the military commission in Texas, and upon whose case Attorney-General HOAR gave an opinion not long ago, has escaped. One of his guards ran away with him.

The convict, DRAKE, who was shot during the revolt at Sing Sing Prison, on Wednesday, died yesterday.

A noted Ohio horse-thief, known as BILL WHEELER, who had served fifteen years in the Kentucky Penitentiary, and was a very desperate character, was shot and killed by a party of men, in the vicinity of Quincy, Ky., a few days ago, who had chased him from over the line in Ohio. He had been ordered to halt, but refused to do so and fired on his pursuers. Hence his death.

WILLIAM RICE, a negro, recently shot and killed a companion while at work in a field near Morganfield, Union County, Ky., with whom he had quarreled, and then shot and killed himself.

CHAUNCEY BAILEY, who shot JAMES L. LAIRD, at Napiersville, Ill., for alleged improper intimacy with his wife, was acquitted by the jury at Wheaton, on the 29th ult. The form of the verdict was: "We, the jury, find the defendant, CHAUNCEY BAILEY, not guilty—justified by insanity." BAILEY left the court-room amid the waving of handkerchiefs and the cheers of the crowd.

The equestrian statue of WASHINGTON in the Boston Public Garden is to be formally unveiled this afternoon. Hon. ALEXANDER H. RICE will deliver an address in behalf of the Committee of citizens who have carried out the work begun in 1860. Mayor SHURTLEFF will reply, and receive it for the city, and Rev. A. A. MINER, D. D., will offer the prayer.

THOMAS D. CARR, convicted of the willful and premeditated murder of LOUISA C. FOX, of Kirkwood Township, Ohio, in January last, has been sentenced to be hanged on the 20th of August. CARR failed in an attempt to commit suicide at the time of the murder.

Notice has been served by the United States officers on the owners of whisky burned in the warehouse of GAINES, BERRY & Co., in Frankfort, Ky., some time ago, for the payment of the tax on said whisky. The amount of taxes demanded is about $100,000. An extensive lawsuit will result.

EDWARD B. KETCHUM, the forger, who a few days since was brought from Sing Sing on a writ of habeas corpus, and his discharge demanded on the ground of alleged informalities in the sentence, was yesterday remanded to prison by Judge BARNARD, and the writ dismissed, for the reason that the prisoner himself was opposed to the proceeding.

At a meeting of the Police Commissioners held yesterday afternoon sixteen Captains in New-York and six in Brooklyn were ordered to be transferred from the precincts where they are now stationed.

Testimony was taken by Mr SETH C. HAWLEY, at the Board of Health rooms yesterday, in connection with the alleged nuisances of the New-York Rendering Company, on the North River, at the foot of Thirty-eighth-street. It will be resumed to-day at 1 o'clock.

There will be music at the Park this afternoon if the weather be pleasant, commencing at 4 o'clock.

General Barlow and His Censors.

The indictment preferred against General BARLOW would be more formidable if it rested more firmly upon facts which the public could appreciate. It is quite evident that he has given a majority of the Union Republican General Committee grievous offence, but the causes of offence are not so clearly stated as they should be to justify summary punishment at the hands of the Executive. The only clear point in the affair is, that it originates in an appetite for office, and disappointment at the manner in which the Marshal has disposed of the offices at his command. He has not given an office to everybody who wanted one. He has not appreciated the claims of many applicants exactly according to their wishes. And the consequence is that a good many who have no doubt as to their right to speak for the Republican Party entertain the idea that in refusing them office the Marshal has wronged the party, and should be removed in consequence. If the party existed wholly and solely as a means of dispensing salaries, we should have no difficulty in understanding the force of the demand. But inasmuch as we regard the Republican organization as something more than a machine for securing all its members office, we fail to perceive the sufficiency of the reasons assigned for the decapitation of the offending General.

What has General BARLOW done that he should be removed? "He has not allotted offices to many who are sure they ought to have them," is the reply. But the answer is not enough; it cannot satisfy the judgment of the President, who is asked to interfere, or of the Republican Party in whose name interference is urged. It is not alleged that the Marshal is in any respect an unfit man for the position he occupies; his gallantry as a soldier, his consistency as a Republican, his general business habits and ability are unchallenged. Nor is it pretended that he has appointed incapable or improper men to positions under him. Whom has he appointed that should not have been appointed? What man has been selected by the Marshal of whom the Republican Party can properly complain? And what applicant has been denied office whose title to it is so obvious and strong that the failure to give it constitutes a crime, to be punished by dismissal? These are inquiries which suggest themselves in view of the attack made upon the Marshal; and they are inquiries on which the majority report sheds no light.

We do not forget that the preamble and resolution referred to the Committee speak of General BARLOW'S "offensive and dictatorial manner," and of his failure "to show ordinary courtesy" to individuals complaining of his action in regard to offices. But we submit that allowance must be made for the circumstances under which the Marshal fell short of the Parisian standard of politeness. Mr. GRINNELL'S manner has been complained of by those who think that they should have been taken care of by the Collector; and Marshal BARLOW, a less experienced politician, may be pardoned if impatience got the better of politeness when assailed by a crowd of noisy office-seekers. Certainly, the fact that he showed less consideration to a deputation speaking in behalf of office-seekers than the members of the deputation considered themselves entitled to, is scarcely an offence that should call forth the penalties which the President is required to inflict. It will be time to dismiss General BARLOW when he is proved to have done wrong. The fact that he is not as angelic and obliging as every office-seeker would like him to be, does not seem to us to warrant his summary execution.

The Administration and the Southern Elections.

The view expressed by the TIMES in regard to the desirableness of preserving on the part of the Administration an attitude of neutrality as between the Republican candidates in Virginia and elsewhere in the South, is shared by the Springfield Republican, which "very respectfully declines to believe"—

"that General GRANT is going to 'throw' his Administration in behalf of any of these tickets or any of these candidates. All that the General Government is called upon to do is to give a fair field, and see that the fight is a fair one, and let the people decide for themselves what policy they will adopt and who they will have to rule over them. We particularly decline to believe that General GRANT will use his influence, and that of the Administration, for the success of the party in Virginia which goes in for the test oath and disfranchising clauses of the Constitution. The Wells Party advocate these, and the Walker Party oppose them; and the latter certainly holds a position most in harmony with General GRANT'S words and actions hitherto. Mr. WALKER proclaims himself in favor of equal rights to all, is pledged to protect the blacks in the exercise of every right, and occupies a square Republican platform every way except in regard to the 'Radical' planks of the test oath and disfranchisement. This is the only difference worthy of note between the two parties in Virginia, and both parties will have part of the negro vote."

The statement is equally strong in its application to Texas. If either of the candidates in that State were able truthfully to boast of a regular party nomination, there might be some pretext for the exercise of Federal influence against a "bolting" or self-nominated candidate. But the pretension is inadmissible. DAVIS is no more "regular" than HAMILTON; each is the candidate of his friend, without any semblance of indorsement by the Convention. One is self-nominated, and the other is the nominee of a convention representing only a fraction of the Republican Party in the State. These facts prove that the status of the candidates is substantially identical, and that both have about an equal right to fair play at the hands of the Washington authorities. In his general professions, moreover, HAMILTON, against whom the President is urged to interfere, is more fully in unison with his own opinions and policy than DAVIS, in whose behalf the active support of the Administration is claimed. For these reasons we reject as improbable the stories which ascribe to the President an intention to exert the influence of his office in favor of one set of Republican candidates and against another set. The purpose to be served by putting these stories into motion is obvious; their reasonableness and justice are not so clear.

The Ketchum Habeas Corpus Case.

The ending of the Ketchum habeas corpus case is no less remarkable than its beginning. The scene which transpired in Court yesterday has very much the appearance of being one of those pre-arranged affairs that are altogether too common in some of our New-York Courts whenever it becomes necessary for the Court to recede from a false position.

KETCHUM, it would seem, was indicted in 1865 for knowingly uttering and publishing as true certain forged "gold checks on a national bank in this City." To this indictment he pleaded guilty, and was sentenced to imprisonment for four years and six months in Sing Sing.

After he had been in prison three years and a half, and had but about six months longer to serve, a habeas corpus is applied for and issued by Judge BARNARD with a view to his release from imprisonment.

The ground on which this application was based would seem to be that he was sentenced for the crime of forgery in the third degree, whereas, as is alleged, the facts set out in the indictment do not constitute the crime of forgery at all. And thus he had been tried and convicted for one offence and sentenced for another and different offence. We have looked carefully through all that has appeared in the papers on this question, including Mr. BARTLETT'S brief, and we find no reference to the statute under which the indictment was found. But we suppose, from the remarks of the District Attorney, that the prisoner was indicted under the 39th section of Art. 3, Chap. 1, Part IV., of the Revised Statutes, which provides that

"Every person who shall be convicted of having uttered and published as true, and with intent to defraud, any forged, altered or counterfeited instrument, or any counterfeit gold or silver coin, the forging, altering or counterfeiting of which is hereinbefore declared to be an offence, knowing such instrument or coin to be forged, &c., * * shall suffer the same punishment herein assigned for the forging, altering or counterfeiting the instrument or coin so uttered, except as in the next section specified."

The next section provides as follows:

"But, if it appears on the trial of the indictment that the accused received such forged or counterfeited instrument or coin of another in good faith, and for a just and valuable consideration, without any circumstances to justify a suspicion of its being forged or counterfeited, the jury may find the defendant guilty of forgery in the fourth degree."

The question seems to be whether, under an indictment for uttering a forged instrument, the prisoner can be convicted for forgery in the first, second or third degree, according to the kind and description of forged instrument uttered. It is not disputed that he may be sentenced to the same punishment; but we infer it is argued that, inasmuch as the statute does not declare in express words that the "uttering and passing" shall constitute the crime of forgery, it is error so to denominate it in the sentence.

If we have correctly apprehended the point, then we think it altogether too fine spun to be sound.

It is true the statute does not expressly declare that any person who shall be convicted of having uttered and published as true, &c., shall be deemed guilty of forgery, but it does declare that he shall suffer the same punishment therein prescribed for the forging, altering or counterfeiting the instrument so uttered, which by other sections of the statute may be for forgery in the first, second or third degrees, according to the nature of the instrument forged. But if the person indicted can show that he received the instrument uttered in good faith, &c., the jury may convict him of forgery in the fourth degree.

This is, as it seems to us, equivalent to a positive declaration of the statute, that for knowingly "uttering and publishing" a forged instrument, the party may be convicted of forgery in the same degree that he would have been convicted had he been indicted for forging the paper or instrument so "uttered and published." The argument of the prisoner's counsel would seem to be that if a person indicted under this statute can prove that he received the forged instrument in good faith and for a valuable consideration, then he may be convicted of forgery in the fourth degree, but if he fails to make this proof then he cannot be convicted of forgery at all. The mere statement of the proposition is sufficient to show its unsoundness.

By the 33d section of the same statute, the forging of such a paper as KETCHUM was indicted for uttering and publishing, is declared to be forgery in the third degree.

We have no doubt, therefore, that KETCHUM was properly sentenced for forgery in the third degree.

Such has been the uniform construction of the statute, and the practice of the Courts under it for more than thirty years.

But there was a still more fatal objection to the legality of this proceeding. KETCHUM was in prison in pursuance of the final judgment of a Court of competent jurisdiction, and the statute expressly provides that in such a case the writ of habeas corpus shall not issue. His remedy is by writ of error. The allowance of such a writ brings up the record; and if it appears from the record that the sentence was not justified by the indictment and conviction, the judgment would be reversed and a new trial granted. Upon a writ of error, however, the question must be argued before the General Term. There is another remarkable feature connected with this case, to which we desire to call attention; and, lest we do the Judge injustice, we will quote his own language, as reported in the papers of the 1st inst.:

"Judge BARNARD said that previous to granting the writ he had made a very careful examination of the papers upon which the application was made, and from that examination he had become satisfied, so far as he could be on an ex parte statement of the case, and before hearing the arguments of the District-Attorney—that the prisoner was sentenced for an offence of which he had not been properly convicted.

Mr. W. O. BARTLETT appeared as counsel for the prisoner, and stated that inasmuch as what the Court had just stated was, in substance, the position he had taken, he would say nothing more in opening, but would wait to see what was the argument of the District-Attorney."

From this it appears that Judge BARNARD had not only heard and considered the question upon its merits, but the first step in the argument was for the Judge to announce the decision at which he had arrived. And thus the counsel for the prisoner was relieved from the burden which legally rested upon him of showing that his client was entitled to be discharged, and the duty was devolved on the District-Attorney not only to show that he was not, but also to compel the Judge to reverse the decision he had already announced in the case. This was placing upon the District Attorney a heavy task, but he entered upon it boldly and discharged it well. Seldom does a counsel feel called upon to speak so earnestly and so firmly to a Court as did District Attorney GARVIN to Judge BARNARD. "He was," says the report, "very emphatic and pointed in his remarks that His Honor ought not, could not, and must not discharge the prisoner under the present state of things."

The remarks of the Judge and the action of the prisoner's counsel, casting upon the District-Attorney the burden of showing that the prisoner was not entitled to his discharge, would seem clearly to indicate that on the day of the hearing it was understood that the prisoner was to be discharged. That he was not, we must be permitted to believe, was owing to the firmness and resolution of the District-Attorney. The proceedings in Court yesterday would seem to have been designed simply to cover a retreat, which the argument of the District-Attorney had shown to be necessary.

The Public Debt—Process of Sinking It.

The Government finances are looking remarkably well. Mr. BOUTWELL, thus far administers them ably. His fiscal year 1869 winds up in triumph, and with an exhibit of resources full of promise for the future, and rich in all the elements that inspire public confidence—such as abundant revenues, reduced expenditures, administrative economy, and a commendable observance of the act of Public Faith to gradually sink the principal as well as promptly pay the interest on the great debt of the United States.

This debt has been reduced since June 30, 1868, forty-two and a half million of dollars, reckoning the accrued interest on the 30th of June of both years. Thirty-six and a half millions of this reduction is due to the four months of President GRANT'S administration. Excluding the accrued interest, the reduction in these four months on the principal of the debt is fifty millions, but allowing for thirteen and a half millions as the difference between accrued interest on the 28th of February last and the 30th of June ultimo, the actual reduction is, as officially stated, $36,460,779.

Embraced in this reduction is $8,887,232 by the operation of the Sinking Fund, at the rate of one per cent. per annum. And the Secretary exhibits a Currency balance of $37,097,819 and $79,713,763 in gold coin from which to make further considerable applications to the Sinking Fund; part of the purchases, (such as he will make to-day to the extent of $3,000,000 United States Five-twenties,) being held subject to the approval of Congress. He has not deemed it his duty to go back of his own term of office in the application of one per cent. a year, although the Sinking Fund arrearages under his predecessors should amount to about $148,000,000; but we are happy to find that he does deem it incumbent, with reference both to economy and the public convenience, as affected by the undue accumulation of idle money in the Treasury, to save all the interest he can beyond a proper working balance in currency in the Sub-Treasury and National banks, and a liberal reserve of gold in his strong box. As he can not by law retire the Greenback circulation, nor call in the three per cent. Legal-tender Certificates without the consent of the banks for whose accommodation they were originally created, he has arrived at the very proper conclusion to make extra purchases of United States Five-twenties, so as to save the gold interest thereon, leaving the question of the permanent incorporation of these extra purchases to the determination of Congress. What that action will be, under the advice of the President, there is no reasonable doubt. The Bonds will be made part and parcel of the Sinking Fund of 1869, as due to the Fund prior to the 4th March, 1869.

The effect of the prompt action announced from the Department at a late hour on Thursday night, through the Washington reporter for the Associated Press, has already been favorably felt in business circles, while the extra purchase of $3,000,000 at noon to-day will greatly enhance the public confidence in Mr. BOUTWELL'S conduct of the Treasury, already encouraged by his first of July Debt Schedule.

Pity for Grant.

The World pities President GRANT. In an article bearing the rather premature heading "And Down He Goes," the World announces that "he [the President] is but another illustration of the homely saying that the higher up a monkey climbs, the farther he has to fall. Really, we pity him." Such refined comment might be looked for, perhaps, from the "vigorous" pen of POMEROY, but we had hardly expected it from the polite World.

And the World not only pities, but prophecies. "It needs no prophet to assure us," says the World, "that Mr. GRANT will find among his opponents, within six months from this time, nearly all who voted for him last Fall." This is a bold prophecy, as it will only take six months to settle it; but its present force is perhaps somewhat diminished by the fact that last Summer, at this time, the World predicted that GRANT would not be elected President. People who believed in and betted on the one instance of sagacity are recommended to believe in and bet on the other. We fancy, however, that there is more wisdom in HOSEA BIGLOW'S advice—"Don't never prophesy, onless ye know."

However, in thus pleasantly discounting the "downfall" of President GRANT, the World's own course is clear. That journal four years ago reviled Mr. JOHNSON as a drunkard, he then being a Republican in good standing; but, when "nearly all those who voted for him" became his opponents, the World took him up and eulogized him. Last year the World spent its time in applying the same epithets to GRANT; and when its wonderful Presidential parallel is complete, "six months from this time," of course the World may be expected to come round to GRANT'S support. Meanwhile, it only "pities him."

The British Government and the Telegraph Lines.

The British Government, we learn by a recent Cable dispatch, is now about to take active steps toward the acquisition of all existing rights and interests in the telegraph wires of the Kingdom, and it is stated—on what authority we are as yet unaware—that their purchase will cost the nation no less than six and a half millions of pounds sterling, or more than thirty-two million dollars. This is a large sum; and as no provision has been made in the regular Budget for raising it, it of course follows that the means for carrying out the proposed bargain will have to be specially provided by the House of Commons before the close of the session. The principle of the measure, however, has already been adopted by the Ministry and sanctioned by Parliament, while the efforts of the telegraph companies to retain their monopoly, in preference to parting with their rights at an equitable valuation, were easily defeated. The sum total of purchase money mentioned in the dispatch is, of course, an approximation only, as we presume that the course customary in railway matters will be followed, and that the value of the property and rights of those companies which refuse to accept the Government offer will be determined by arbitration by jury. But the principle may be regarded as settled, and there is every prospect that the details will be arranged, and the measure come into operation before the close of the year.

The experiment is one which we shall watch with great interest. Its advocates assert that the interests and convenience of the public will be better served than heretofore; that expedition and regularity in the transmission of dispatches will be effectually secured; that a moderate and uniform standard of charges will be established throughout the Kingdom, and that a more reliable guarantee of privacy can be given with regard to messages, which will pass only through the hands of Post Office officials on the regular Civil Service Establishment, and bound to preserve inviolate secrecy, than was possible when every dispatch was open to the perusal of half a dozen telegraph clerks, employed only by private companies. And in support of these assertions, they refer to the extraordinary success that has attended the operation of the Post Office Savings Bank, the Money Order Office, the Post Office Annuity Office, and other branches of the Post Office in which centralization and Government control have resulted in greater efficiency of service and better security to the public than was formerly attained by private enterprise, and which all produce a considerable surplus revenue for the national exchequer. On the other hand, the opponents of the measure declaim loudly against undue centralization, the creation of a fresh Government monopoly, and attempt to excite popular prejudice against it by dwelling upon the power which it would place in the hands of a strongly partisan and unscrupulous Government in times of political agitation. These objections, however, seem to have carried no real weight, either in or out of Parliament, and we may confidently look forward to seeing the new system in operation before long. The Post Office is, by general consent, the most admirably managed department of Government in England, and if administrative capacity can command success, it is already assured. Whether the principle is sound, and capable of being advantageously carried into effect, remains to be seen. In any case, there will be useful lessons to be learned from the attempt.

The Jubilee Once More.

Nothing but the stern demand of justice could induce us to again approach the dangerous subject of the great Boston Peace Festival. For the newspapers of that town have worked themselves into such a maelstrom of wrath about it, that the most cautious navigator is in danger of being caught in the merciless current and plunged to perdition among the rocks of rage and fury that lie below. We find that we have sinned past all hope of forgiveness, and our efforts at conciliation serve only to inflame anew the hatred with which Bostonians are determined to regard us. They detect the wooden horse in our most genuine peace offerings, and fear us worse than ever when in perfect sincerity we advance toward them bearing presents. The present condition of their mind is precisely that of the haughty Duchess of MARLBOROUGH, of whom POPE said:

"Offend her, and she knows not to forgive,
Oblige her, and she'll hate you while you live."

Only a few days ago we all took particular delight in recording what was understood to be a direct proof of the financial success of the Jubilee. The account came from a Boston gentleman, and was accepted and published in good faith. Among the details was the distinct assertion that Mr. GILMORE, the projector, was to receive the generous sum of $50,000 for his various services. "Here," we exclaimed, in unaffected admiration, "here is another example of the reckless magnanimity, the prodigal profusion, the colossal munificence of that noble body, the Executive Committee of the Peace Jubilee." It turns out that the report was premature, and that our eulogies were misapplied, and what is the result? We are accused by the Boston Post and others of "stepping in with the most figurative statements," and of again "inventing, falsifying and maligning the Jubilee and all those connected with it." Well, suppose we did "step in," as above alleged. We "stepped in" at the request of a Bostonian, Mr. CLEMENT, who claimed to possess documents authorizing, if not compelling, our entrance. We had no suspicion that the fable of the spider and the fly was to be reënacted. If the finances of the Festival were misrepresented, his fellow-citizens should lavish their invectives upon him, not upon us. The charge of invention is equally cruel. One of our neighbors has kindly saved us the trouble of showing that we did not invent the Jubilee; and there is not a newspaper in this City capable of inventing fifty thousand dollars offhand, and putting it into the pocket of Mr. GILMORE. Not that he does not deserve it, and more. If it depended upon our word alone, he should be remunerated for each blow struck upon every anvil in the Coliseum, from Tuesday morning until Saturday night, at the rate of five good, gold dollars to the pound. But, as the Boston newspapers sneeringly remind us, these matters are not within our control. One thing, however, we feel justified in doing, and that is to relieve Mr. GILMORE from a most unwarranted imputation which the Post, if we mistake not, endeavors to fasten upon him. That journal, not liking, apparently, the high figure at which we estimated the projector's achievements, says: "Nobody will present a just claim to the Committee that will not at once be paid." Here we really must "step in," and protest that this virtually accuses Mr. GILMORE of an intention to present an unjust claim, and the New-York newspapers of conspiring to assist him in doing so. Whatever may have been the motive of the gentleman who took advantage of our desire to represent the financial results of the Jubilee in the pleasantest light, we do not believe that Mr. GILMORE was any party to the deception. His conscience, we are confident, is as clear as our own; and we trust that the publication of the false report will in no way impair his title to the dish of "solid pudding," without which the rhetorical rewards thus far heaped upon him would be "empty praise" indeed. At the worst, he cannot seriously suffer. The profits of his benefit concert were fifteen or twenty thousand dollars, and he has also received valuable gifts from private individuals. Mrs. OTIS, of literary and social fame, has sent him fifty dollars; and numerous other admirers, mostly of mercantile distinction, have begged his acceptance of similar or more bounteous testimonials; upon all of which we cordially congratulate him, and hope that he will not suffer himself to be disturbed by the Post's indelicate innuendo.

MINOR TOPICS.

It appears that we were in error in stating that the amount of commission to be paid by the firms obtaining the contract for supplying the fireworks for the 4th of July was $4,000. It is, we now learn, $8,000, and of this $2,000 are, it is rumored, though we can scarcely credit it, to be the share of a prominent City official. Thus, instead of $22,000 worth of fireworks, the amount which the City actually pays for, the manufacturer will only be able to supply $14,000 worth, the heavy commissions he has to deduct eating up the remainder.

The Protestant leaders who speak about putting in an appearance at the Ecumenical Council, do not seem to have read the Pope's invitation. He only appealed to those persons outside of the Church to take this opportunity of renouncing their heresies, and giving in their adhesion to the Catholic faith. The presence of representative Protestants is not desired, and would not be permitted.

About one-half of the French cable was laid when the difficulty took place. The preparations for difficulties of all kinds were very complete, and were in the hands of men who had the advantage of previous experience in the laying of the English cable.

The third party in the French Legislative Body—for there is a third party, after all—will, it is said, offer a mild suggestion that the public shall have "a more intimate association in the direction of affairs." "Intimate association" is good; but it can give us a vision of BANCEL, LEON GAMBETTA, JULES FERRY and old RASPAIL—so well described by our Paris correspondent—bringing the genius of the clubs into the tribune and grandly "refusing the presents of ARTAXERXES," in the classical spirit of the old Mirabeaus and "Mountaineers." The "Corps" will be likely to have a lively time with these "irrepressible" men: but, if the latter could ever have an "intimate association" or hand in the management of France, the whole continent would have still more lively time of it, very probably.

The projecters of the Memphis Convention for promoting Chinese immigration to the South, should secure the advice of parties who are conversant with the question of Chinese labor and with the character of the Chinese people. There is in this City, for example, Captain CESARE MORENO, a gentleman who has spent many years of his life in China, and who has, by actual observation, made himself thoroughly conversant with all the points involved. If the managers of the Convention were to take some pains to secure the presence of Captain MORENO, and if they would give due attention to his views and experiences, they would be able to act with something like intelligence.

It seems a little unreasonable that the City Hall Park, one of the few breathing places remaining in New-York below the Central Park, should be converted into a velocipede exercise ground on every fine evening. A few reckless riders of these machines are able to keep grown up pedestrians continually on the qui vive for possible collisions, and the numerous children who come forth to enjoy the cool air and scent the new-mown grass are continually in danger of serious accident.

The commercial and financial classes of this City will take notice, to-day, that Monday will be a legal holiday. The present law on the subject will be found in our financial columns.

The Colombians are in a gruff and impracticable frame of mind just now. Their Minister at Washington, ACOSTA, has been forcing our Secretary of the Navy to apologize for sending mariners ashore at Panama, to look for deserters a couple of years ago, and to promise that such violation of territory shall never occur again; while their Congress decides that their President shall have no power to make a treaty with any one about the canal across the Isthmus—neither with the Americans nor the Englishmen. They will have no canal at all, apparently, at this moment, knowing how anxious all the outsiders are about it—all except the French, who have their agent CHEVALIER planning the water-way across Nicaragua, and have, therefore, no fault to find with those huxtering Colombians.

The new Captain-General of Cuba has already troubles on his hands from the Spanish "volunteers." They made a show of submission to his authority when he landed, but, having once enjoyed the pleasures of unrestrained power, they find it difficult to suffer themselves to be overruled in any matter. Already they have let the Captain-General know that he is only safe in his place as long as he follows their dictation. If he assumes his rights, as DULCE attempted to do, we shall see a renewal of confusion.

Our Consul at Liverpool has forwarded a list of the duties on which the British import rates have recently been changed. It is pleasing to know that our commercial intercourse with British ports is relieved of the imposts heretofore levied on these particulars—which, though slight, were troublesome.

The Republican Party of Spain has steadily grown in popular power since the dethronement of Queen ISABELLA. For nearly a year the country has gone along so well without a royal head, that it is no wonder there should grow up a general opinion that it can both exist and prosper permanently as a Republic. One might infer from the course of things that judicious management on the part of the Republicans would enable them to carry the day. We think, however, that this depends on their maintaining the peace, and coöperating, as far as possible, with the existing régime.

Probably the most pious son of "Fair Harvard" will admit that Commencement Day has been shorn of much of its glory under the new regime of the Alumni. That time-honored anniversary which is a legal holiday in Boston, and which was hitherto marked by literary performances of a distinguished character, is now become in great measure a convocation of the rulers of the University for solid work. The election of overseers which is now vested in the Alumni, absorbs most of the interest of the occasion, and leaves those who participate in the canvassing in a serious and business-like frame of mind. This year's experience has shown that the brilliancy and jollity of the College festivities, and the literary display, are to be transferred from Commencement to Class Day. There are those who mourn this revolution, but the best friends of Harvard see in it a promise that the ancient institution is to gain fresh vigor and power from the government of its sons. The policy of the new rulers of the University was hinted in the address of the President of the Alumni, when he said: "American colleges are not cloisters for the education of a few persons but seats of learning, whose hospitable doors should always be open to every seeker of knowledge."

The Executive Committee of the Peace Jubilee have passed a resolution of thanks to OLE BULL, among others, for services rendered during the recent festival; and the Boston newspapers, momentarily suspending their denunciations of New-York, unite in a chorus of praise to the "noble Norwegian who gave his heart and his genius to the success of the occasion." This shows again the incapacity of Bostonians to express a reasonable opinion upon any circumstance connected with their great exhibition. The exact amount of heart and genius that may have been contributed by OLE BULL we have no means of ascertaining, but that he practically assisted the performances or added to their effect in any way, we totally deny. He was present at no rehearsals and took part in only one of the regular concerts, in which his playing, although he sat at the head of the orchestra, was so careless and slovenly as to excite universal remark. Excepting a highly theatrical entrance, a prolonged hand-shaking with everybody within reach, and the preservation throughout one afternoon of an attitude of nonchalant indifference, he made no demonstration whatever. His name and his presence, for one concert, were, in point of fact, the extent of his contributions "to the success of the occasion."

Theatrical.

"Leah the Forsaken," was last evening produced at the Grand Opera House, and was received with acclamations by numerous admirers of the erratic and vehement style of acting invariably exhibited by Miss LUCILLE WESTERN, who appeared as the demonstrative Jewish heroine. The same drama will be repeated this afternoon and evening, and for Monday next "Oliver Twist" is announced. We learn that a revival of "Patrie" is contemplated at this establishment, with Miss WESTERN in the part of Dolores.

The Lauri Troupe will perform this evening for the last time at Wallack's Theatre, engagements having been made for the appearance of the company at Selwyn's Boston Theatre next week.

CUBA.

ARRIVAL OF THE STEAMSHIP COLUMBIA.

The steamship Columbia, from Havana, June 26, via Nassau, N. P., reached this port yesterday. Purser OSCAR CROCHERON has our thanks for the prompt delivery of our letters and papers.

The Situation—Horrible Misery in the Eastern Department—The Spanish Plan of Extermination—The Case of the Jesuits—Their Own Defence.

From Our Own Correspondent.

HAVANA, Saturday, June 26, 1869.

Since the beginning of bona fide hostilities in Cuba, there appeared to be no unity of action, no combined movements, and no concerted plan on the part of the Spaniards. Latterly this same neglect and carelessness appears to have attainted the Cubans, and people wondered why neither side made any decisive attacks, or why such an ominous silence had suddenly fallen, and hushed the former grandiloquent reports of battles, skirmishes and super-heroic actions. But the truth has become obvious, the fact being that the contending parties are too weak to attack each other. Sickness and disease has either killed them off by hundreds, or else laid them up in temporary hospitals. The Cubans, compelled to wander in the woods, swamps and mountain fastnesses, ill provided with anti-scorbutics or medicines, have suffered dreadfully, and only the continual influx of recruits from almost every section of the island has enabled them to keep their ranks filled. The Spaniards have suffered in equal proportion, the disadvantages of being unaccustomed to the climate being balanced by the possession of hospitals and medicines. The troops, compelled to make forced marches so as to present a front to the Cubans, who outnumber them largely, led by stupid and ignorant Generals, as a rule, do not muster to-day throughout the entire island, including garrisons, artillery and staff, more than 9,000 men fit for active duty in the field. The battalion of Reno, which left Havana in January 1,100 rank and file, has to-day but 300 men fit for duty; 100 have either been killed or have died from disease, while the remaining 700 are scattered about the different villages and towns emaciated from fever, unfit for hardships and incapable of rendering the slightest services. Other regiments are in the same state. Among the Cubans an estimate of the same proportion of sickness and death may be safely arrived at, and they labor under the additional disadvantage of not being provided with hospitals. It may therefore be taken as a fixed fact that no military movements of any importance will take place within the next three months, during which the heavy rains change gullies into rivers, plains into impassable swamps, and creeks into dangerous mountain torrents. No army of human beings can overcome these difficulties, especially when cholera, hunger and misery are added to them. The suffering among the women and children, even about the Spanish camps and under the so-called protection of the troops, is intense.

EXTERMINATION.

For some time past nothing definite has been heard of CESPEDES, QUESADA, or the big guns on the Spanish side, the latter remaining idle in their fortified positions, and the former undoubtedly being employed in organizing. For some time past, watching passing events, I have been under the impression that the Spaniards did not desire to close the war or carry it on with vigor. Now a conversation with a very prominent Spanish gentleman whose relations with the highest officials of the island are intimate, has convinced me that the plan he stated as being the plan of the Spanish Government must be the correct one. I can do no better than to give it in the gentleman's own words:

"Spain, he says, has an object in not finishing the revolution, as an early peace would undoubtedly pacify the island temporarily, but would keep a discontented male population of over 100,000 men opposed to the Spanish Government, and ready to take up arms again at any moment, making the final retention of the island a very doubtful matter. On an average, from three to five hundred Cubans either die or are killed every eight days; by keeping them in the mountains the number of Cubans will decrease daily, and ultimately they will remain in such small numbers as to make it an easy matter to exterminate them. This loss of the Cubans cannot be replaced, because they have only their own country to draw from—that is to say, from this number of 100,000 Cubans willing to take up arms. Say that for every 10,000 Cubans, 8,000 Spaniards are sacrificed. This is of no consequence, because we have a country containing twenty millions of inhabitants to fall back upon. The island is so rich and fertile that a few years will erase all traces of the revolution, left with with a population in the main truly loyal to Spain, and composed of the remnants of the Spanish armies, who will be recompensed with grants of land and be aided by the Government. Therefore it is best to lose 25,000 Spaniards, and by making this sacrifice exterminate the rebellious portion of the population.

This coolly atrocious plan presents all the appearance of truth, and I should not be surprised if orders to this effect had come from Spain. The manner of carrying on the war goes far toward making it probable, and judging from the character of the Spanish population, and especially of that portion from which the volunteers are recruited, there is no doubt that the Spaniards are willing to sacrifice 26,000 or 30,000 men, if by these means they can exterminate, not the rebellion, but the rebels.

THE JESUITS.

The revolution is no longer a revolution of noise, boasting and reported battles. Its character has been changed, and the animosity between the two distinct Spanish factions promises to be as bitter and as violent as that between the Cubans and Spaniards. The Prensa and Voz de Cuba, as the organs of these respective factions, are doing their best to widen the breach, and each is availing itself of every available subterfuge, and employs every artifice, to make the opposition hated, and secure adherents for itself. The means taken to bring this about are very peculiar, but truly Spanish; and strange to say, this nation of heathens and scoffers at religion, this body of people who know nothing about true faith, who are never seen in a church, and who are the rankest atheists in the world, although claiming the empty title of Roman Apostolic Catholics and only true sons of the Church,—this people has invoked the aid of the priesthood and engrafted the question of religion and intolerance on a purely political matter. As a consequence some strange revelations have taken place. The Voz de Cuba, in its issue of the 16th inst., published an answer to a certain Mr. ESPINOSA, who had inserted several articles in the Prensa. In this appeared the following paragraph, which has no reference to said gentleman, but alludes in very strong terms to that renowned society, the Jesuits. It reads:

"Those persons merit scorn and contempt only who, forgetful of their sacred mission, become parties to dark political intrigues. They forget that their stay in Cuba is precarious, and that when patience is exhausted, the full penalty for their actions will be exacted, as has already occurred twice during the past century."

Of course, everybody knew that this article referred to the Jesuits, who had made common cause with the most extreme factions among the Spaniards, the party represented by the Prensa, and contrary to established customs and the general rules of the Order. The people were afterward startled by another communication in Wednesday's Prensa, signed "S.," and due to the pen of the Father Superior of the Jesuits in Cuba, who boldly proclaims the aims and ideas of his Order, and who, knowing his power and the ascendency he has over the minds of the ignorant masses and also of many of the intelligent classes, throws the gauntlet to the so-called Liberal portion of the Spaniards, and appears to have cowed them, as is generally the case with Spaniards when a priest gets angry. Superstition is yet too strong there to allow them to defy the priesthood openly. The translation of the Jesuit proclamation will be its best explanation. The document, after referring to the paragraph of the Voz de Cuba, says:

"Let us examine the above extract and see who are those persons who, forgetful of their sacred mission, become parties to dark political intrigues. To whose patience does Los Voz de Cuba refer when in a threatening style it asserts 'the stay in Cuba of those persons is precarious?' What are the acts for which a penalty will be exacted after the patience of, we know not whom, shall be exhausted? Not a particle of doubt exists but that reference was had to a corporation noted for its virtues, for its sincere assiduity, and, above all, for its pure and unadulterated Spanish loyalty. Granted the above, let La Voz de Cuba put aside its mask and speak plainly, for it is unworthy of gentlemen to mask themselves and strike in the dark. Then the writer of this will come forth and defend his cause over his own name, which he does not now do for reasons patent to all. La Voz de Cuba should know, if so be it is ignorant of the fact, that those persons whom it unjustly supposes to have become parties to political intrigues, come to this island, intreated by Government, for the the sole purpose of teaching the youth of these Antilles good morals and loyalty toward Spain. Their mission has never been neglected. This for the staff of La Voz de Cuba, is, perhaps, and will be always an unpardonable sin, and if the penalty which has been exacted twice during a century should be a third time laid upon the friends of La Voz de Cuba, those persons may leave with pride as the recipients of the prayers of all loyal Spaniards. Their departure would be the greatest of disasters to Havana and all Spain. Let La Voz de Cuba—the paper of impossible amalgamations—explain itself. Let it avoid blind and indirect accusations that may be qualified as calumniatory, but come forward with plain assertions that we may all understand. If such obscure phrases are put forth for the purpose of creating a certain political atmosphere, they may produce a contrary effect and recoil upon their makers, for, thanks to God, there are those who go to the bottom of these things, and know whence come these forgeries, and for what purposes they are accomplished. S.

HAVANA, June 21, 1869.

The Voz de Cuba has not answered this defiant challenge, as its editors undoubtedly wish, and are able to do. The Government will not permit them to widen the breach between the Spaniards. But the Prensa has acted in a different manner, and instigated by the Jesuits, has made several indecent and contemptible attacks on Freemasonry, trying to make the stupid and bigoted portion of the degenerate sons of the Cid believe that this revolution is the work of the Masons, and that they all obey one common head, here or in Europe, with intent to destroy the supremacy of Spain. QUASIMODO,

Riotous Conduct of the Catalonian Volunteers—General Letona in Danger.

HAVANA, Wednesday, June 30.

It is reported that the Catalonian Volunteers guarding the line of the Nuevitas Railroad have mutinied, and refuse to guard the line any longer. They demanded of the Colonel to be placed in active service. The Colonel presented the claim to General LETONA, at Puerto Principe. The latter immediately arrested the Colonel. The Volunteers then marched to Puerto Principe, liberated their Colonel, seized and imprisoned LETONA. It is expected that the Catalonian and local Volunteers will try to shoot General LETONA.

Final Repulse of the Cubans in the Cinco Villas District—Execution of Americans by the Spanish—Destruction of Plantations.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Friday, July 2.

Recent advices from Cuban sources state that after their recent repulse, the Spanish forces in the Cinco Villas District were reinforced by 2,000 men, regulars and volunteers, which increased the Government forces to nearly double that of the Cubans, and they were compelled to retreat. Several small bodies were captured by the Spaniards—one body numbering eighty-five men. Among the latter were a number of Americans, all of whom are reported to have been executed by order of General LESCA, who, it is said, is the commander of the expedition, immediately after their capture. Nearly all the large plantations in the district have been destroyed. It is reported that the Cuban General is concentrating his forces to meet the column under LESCA, and that news of a decisive battle is expected every day.

Effect of the News of the Capture of the Fillibusters in Long Island Sound.

HAVANA, Friday, July 2—Evening.

The announcement of the action of the United States authorities in preventing the violation of the Neutrality laws renders the Spaniards more confident, and they now look for a speedy termination of the rebellion in this island.

The receipts from Customs at the ports of Cuba for the month of May amounted to $1,221,000.

Advice of the New Captain-General to Journalists.

HAVANA, Friday, July 2.

Captain-General DE RODAS, in a public speech, advised journalists to show more moderation, endeavor to conciliate all classes, and cease publishing irritating articles, especially in regard to ladies.

THE CUBAN FIASCO.

Outrages by the Fillibusters Upon Farmers on Gardiner's Island—A Vessel Dispatched to Catch the Marauders—The Movement Completely Crushed.

The excitement in regard to the Cuban expedition is rapidly abating. There is no longer any doubt that the entire movement has been defeated, and that all the prominent leaders have been captured, with the exception of the redoubtable Colonel RYAN. The tugboat Chase made her appearance at the Navy-yard yesterday in charge of the revenue cutter Mahonning, and was placed alongside of the other seized vessels. A large number of men left the boat just before she was taken on Thursday, escaping to Gardiner's Island, where they commenced an onslaught on hogs, cows and poultry, for the purpose of providing themselves with the means of subsistence. It is said that after they got ashore they behaved in a very lawless manner toward the farmers, and that they had a free fight among themselves, during which three men were killed and several wounded by pistol shots. A revenue cutter, with a fully armed crew and a posse of deputy marshals on board, was dispatched to the scene of the fillibustering yesterday, and it is expected that a number of men will be caught. RYAN is believed to be among those wandering about Gardiner's Island, although it was privately announced that he was secreted in a friend's house within fifteen minutes' walk of the City Hall. There seems to have been a dispute between Marshal BARLOW and Admiral GODON, the question being as to which was responsible for the safe keeping and the feeding of the fillibusters brought to the Navy-yard. It was finally decided, after a lengthy conference between the two officers, and after instructions were received from Washington, that the prisoners should be transferred from the Vermont to the captured tugboats, and that the latter should be anchored in the stream under the guns of the guardship. It is the intention of Marshal BARLOW to supply them with provisions, and to have them indicted in as expeditious a manner as possible, and then taken to Ludlow-street Jail.

The Munitions of War Seized at Milford, Conn.—Protest of the Pretended Consignee.

The particulars connected with the seizure at Milford of the munitions of war intended for the use of the Cuban insurgents are quite interesting. In Milford resides Mr. CHARLES H. POND, of the firm of COOPER, POND & CO., who had shipped the munitions of war, and to avoid seizure, it was determined to unload the supplies in that village and have them taken care of by Mr. POND. The Fancy was of but 100 tons burden, and was able to reach the dock on Wednesday and commence unloading. The Winona was of 200 tons burden and could not come within a mile of the dock, and a portion of her cargo was landed by the use of a scow. The New-York authorities ascertaining the locality of the vessels, sent an officer to effect their capture. The Fancy commenced unloading Tuesday night, and the property was carted from the wharf to Mr. POND'S barn. The carting was continued during that night, all day Wednesday, and a part of Wednesday night; but a lot was left on the wharf. Two boat loads of men from the revenue cutter under Lieutenant IRISH rowed to the dock and took charge of the property. Mr. POND subsequently returned home from New-York and brought with him bills of lading, showing that the goods were sent consigned to him at Milford. On his arrival he found Lieutenant IRISH and a squad of men in charge of the property, at the wharf and at the barn. Lieutenant IRISH told Mr. POND that the Government had suspicions that the goods were intended for the Cubans, and that he had been sent to take charge of them, and that he should do so until the arrival of a United States Marshal. Mr. POND protested against the seizure, and stated that when the Marshal arrived he should make a written protest, which he accordingly did, but with what effect has yet to be ascertained.

Disposal of the Cuban Leaders.

Yesterday afternoon Señor ALFARO, the Cuban Secretary of War, and Señor BASSORA, both of whom were captured on the tugboat McCoole, were brought from the Navy-yard by Deputy Marshal WINSLOW to the United States Marshal's office. Warrants for their arrest were issued on the 28th by Commissioners OSBORN and WHITE, and upon these the prisoners were arrested yesterday. They were taken to Ludlow-street Jail, and will be brought before Commissioner WHITE, when application will be made to admit them to bail

THE PEABODY EDUCATION FUND.

An Addition of Nearly Fourteen Hundred Thousand Dollars.

Mr. Peabody's Letter Announcing the New Gift—His Wishes in Regard to the Trust—His Satisfaction with the Policy of the Trustees.

At a special meeting of the Trustees of the Peabody Education Fund, held at Newport on Thursday, July 1, Hon. ROBERT C. WINTHROP in the chair, the following letter was received from Mr. PEABODY:

To Hon. Robert C. Winthrop, Hon. Hamilton Fish, Right Rev. Charles P. McIlvaine, His Excellency U. S. Grant, President of the United States; Admiral D. G. Farragut, Hon. John H. Clifford, Hon. William Aiken, Hon. William A. Graham, Hon. W. M. Evarts, Charles Macalister, Esq.; George W. Riggs, Esq.; Samuel Wetmore, Esq.; Hon. E. A. Bradford, George N. Eaton, Esq.; George Peabody Russell, Esq., and Hon. Samuel Watson, Trustees of the Peabody Education Fund.

GENTLEMEN: When I established the trust of which you have charge, it was my intention, if its results and progress should prove satisfactory, to return in three years to my native land, and to make further provision for carrying out the plans which experience should have shown to be productive of encouragement and benefit to the people of the South.

My precarious state of health has rendered it imprudent for me to wait for the full period of my intended absence, and I have now come among you in order to proceed at once to the fulfilment of my purpose.

I have constantly watched, with great interest and careful attention, the proceedings of your Board, and it is most gratifying to me now to be able to express my warmest thanks for the interest and zeal you have manifested in maturing and carrying out the designs of my letter of Trust, and to assure you of my cordial concurrence in all the steps you have taken.

At the same time I must not omit to congratulate you, and all who have at heart the best interests of this educational enterprise, upon your obtaining the highly valuable services of Dr. SEARS as your General Agent—services valuable not merely in the organization of schools and of a system of public education, but in the good effect which his conciliatory and sympathizing course has had, wherever he has met or become associated with the communities of the South, in social or business relations.

And I embrace this opportunity of thanking, with all my heart, the people of the South themselves for the cordial spirit with which they have received the trust, and for the energetic efforts which they have made, in coöperation with yourselves and Dr. SEARS, for carrying out the plans for which the trust was proposed and matured for the diffusion of the blessings of education in their respective States.

Hitherto, under the system adopted by your general agent, and sanctioned by you, four of the Southern States have not been assisted from the fund placed in your charge, and I concur with you in the policy thus pursued, as, I am sure, will the citizens of those four States, and all who have at heart the highest permanent good of our beloved country. For it was most necessary that, at the outset, those States and portions of States which had suffered most from the ravages of war, and were most destitute of educational means and privileges, should be first and specially aided.

I believe the good sense and kind feeling of the people of these States will continue to acquiesce, for the present, in your course of devoting, under the care of Dr. SEARS, the greater part of the fund to the same States which have received its benefits for the past two years, with, perhaps, the addition of Texas, which State, I am advised, the General Agent will visit during the coming Autumn or Winter, to ascertain its educational requirements, and to give such aid as shall be requisite and can be afforded where it shall be most needed.

I have the same sympathy with every one of the States, and were all alike needing assistance, I should wish each alike to share in the benefits of the trust.

As the portions aided shall respectively grow in prosperity and become self-sustaining in their systems of education, their respective allotments of the fund will be applied to other destitute communities; and thus its benefits will, I earnestly hope and trust, ultimately reach every section of that vast field committed to your care.

It is my hope and belief, and this opinion is fully confirmed by my interviews with Dr. SEARS, that, with the additional amount which I now place in your hands, the annual income of the fund alone may be found sufficient to sustain and extend the work you have so well begun; and it is my desire that when the trust is closed and the final distribution made by yourselves or your successors, all the fourteen Southern States, including Maryland, Kentucky, Missouri and TEXAS, shall share in that distribution according to their needs.

In accordance with what I have already said of my intention, at the time I established this trust, to add thereto, if its success were such as I am now well assured has attended it, I now give to you and your successors the following securities, viz.:

$190,000 Belvidere and Delaware Railroad Company's six per cent. bonds, first mortgage; dividends 15th June and 15th December, due 1877; principal and interest guaranteed by the Camden and Amboy Railroad Company and New-Jersey Transportation Company.

$501,025 Syracuse and Binghamton Railroad Company's seven per cent. bonds: ($198,500 due in 1876, dividend Oct. 1 and April 1; $4,525 payable Oct. 1, 1870; $98,000 dividends from 1st June, due in 1887.) This is an excellent road, and the stock at par, but the security is rendered perfect by the guarantee of both principal and interest by the Lackawanna Coal Company of Pennsylvania.

$79,200 Alabama State five per cent bonds: $16,200 due 1886; $21,000 due 1872; $42,000 due 1883. Dividends from Nov. 1.

$35,300 Mobile City five per cent. bonds; dividends from July 1; principal to be gradually paid off.

$79,006 City of Louisville six per cent. bonds; dividends April and October; due 1883.

$69,600 Louisiana Consolidated Bank fives, fully guaranteed by State of Louisiana, and payable in 1870, 1872, 1874 and 1876.

$38,000 Ohio and Mississippi Railroad first mortgage seven per cent. bonds; dividends 1st July and 1st January; all payable July 1, 1872.

$90,000 Columbus, Chicago and Indiana Central Railroad first mortgage bonds, seven per cent.; dividends 1st April and 1st October; due in 1886; guaranteed by Pennsylvania Central Railroad Company.

$30,000 Pittsburg City four per cent. bonds; dividends January and July; due in 1913.

$8,000 Pittsburg City five per cent. bonds; dividends January and July; due in 1913.

$19,000 Louisiana State sixes; dividends January and July.

$10,000 New-Orleans City sixes; dividends January and July.

Amounting in all to $1,000,000. These stocks are all of the very highest character for security, and the dividends are certain to be promptly paid.

The principal sum of $1,000,000, given by my first letter of trust, is still intact, the interest on which, being added to that of my present gift, makes the annual revenue of the Trust upwards of $130,000, a sum which, in the opinion of your Honorable Chairman and your General Agent, is amply sufficient to meet all the requirements of the Trust, without infringing upon the capital, until the time arrives for the final distribution, as before stated.

In addition to the foregoing, I give to you Florida 6 per cent. bonds, which, with overdue coupons, amount to about $384,000.

These bonds, like the Mississippi bonds in my first gift, must before many years be paid.

The Territory of Florida obtained the money on these bonds in Europe at about par, and loaned it to the Union Bank as capital.

The Territory received for some time a high rate of interest, but, after the bank suspended, paid the bondholders nothing, but referred them to the Union Bank, saying, "Obtain what you can from the Union Bank, and it will then be time enough to come to us." Large amounts of these bonds were purchased by planters at about 50 per cent., and used to pay mortgages held by the Union Bank, until there was nothing more left to be paid, and the small amount of these bonds now outstanding (not exceeding, I believe, $2,000,000 of the original bonds) must, I think, before long, induce Florida, as an act of justice long delayed, to make provision for their payment.

All the stocks I have given as above are to be held in trust by yourselves and your successors for the same purposes and under the same conditions as the funds given you by my original letter creating your trust.

I do this with the earnest hope, and in the sincere trust, that with God's blessing upon the gift and upon the deliberations and future action of yourselves and your general agent, it may enlarge the sphere of usefulness already entered upon, and prove a permanent and lasting boon, not only to the Southern States but to the whole of our dear country, which I have ever loved so well, but never so much as now in my declining years, and at this time, (probably the last occasion I shall ever have to address you,) as I look back over the changes and the progress of nearly three quarters of a century. And I pray that Almighty God will grant to it a future as happy and noble in the intelligence and virtues of its citizens, as it will be glorious in unexampled power and prosperity. I am, with great respect, your humble servant,

GEORGE PEABODY.

SALEM, June 29, 1869.

The above letter having been read and considered, was referred to a special Committee, consisting of Governor AIKEN, of South Carolina; Governor GRAHAM, of North Carolina, and Hon. SAMUEL WATSON, of Tennessee, who subsequently reported the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted and signed:

Resolved, By the Trustees of the Peabody Education Fund, that we receive with the highest gratification the letter of our munificent friend, Mr. PEABODY, announcing so large an addition to our means for carrying on his noble designs for education in the Southern States; that we thankfully recognize in this act, as well as in the express language of his letter, his approbation of the policy we have thus far pursued, and his appreciation of the success thus far achieved; and that we hasten to assure him of our deep sense of the great liberality and wisdom of his endowment, and of our warm personal gratitude for the confidence he has reposed in us.

Resolved, That in accepting this second princely gift, we pledge ourselves to proceed in the executions of the trust committed to us, with renewed resolution that nothing on our part shall be wanting to secure the entire success of an enterprise so full of interest and importance in itself, and which cannot fail to produce the most valuable and lasting influences upon the harmony and welfare of our whole country.

Resolved, That we heartily and affectionately congratulate Mr. PEABODY on being permitted to return in safety to his native land to fulfill this cherished purpose of his heart; and that we implore our Heavenly Father that his strength may be restored, and his life spared until he shall have witnessed still more of the fruits of his beneficient plans, and shall have enjoyed still longer the respect and gratitude of the world.

Resolved, That these resolutions be communicated to Mr. PEABODY, with the signatures of all the Trustees present at this meeting, and that our excellent general agent, Dr. SEARS, be invited to affix his name with ours, in attestation of the gratification and gratitude which are common to us all.

Signed—Robert C. Winthrop, Chas. P. McIlvaine, D. G. Farragut, John H. Clifford, Wm. Aiken, Wm. A. Graham, Charlestalister, Samuel Wetmore, George Peabody Russell, George N. Eaton, Samuel Watson, B. Sears, General Agent.

After some other business and prayer by Bishop MCILVAINE, the meeting was dissolved.

SAM HILDEBRAND.

The Outlaw of the South-east—A Reward of Ten Thousand Dollars Offered for His Head.

From the St. Louis Democrat, June 30.

The good people of Washington and St. Francois have for several years been kept in awe by the bold and bloody acts of the notorious SAM HILDEBRAND. This man, it is said, has murdered at least eighty persons in those counties and in Arkansas. When the rebellion broke out he espoused the cause of the rebels, and became a daring and ruthless bushwhacker. It has been asserted that he suffered injury at the hands of a Union officer, having his house burned down, and his family driven forth homeless and shelterless. Whatever of truth or falsehood may be in these stories, it is certain that HILDEBRAND became a desperate and unscrupulous man. He wreaked a terrible vengeance upon those who had been his enemies, shooting men down in their fields and by the wayside, burning houses and outraging women. All attempts to kill or capture this man have proved abortive. He has been hunted by companies of determined men, tracked by detectives from the city, but has always eluded pursuit and successfully resisted attack. A few days ago we gave an account of an attempt to capture HILDEBRAND by the Sheriff of Washington County and a squad of fifteen or sixteen men, which resulted in the wounding of the Sheriff, the killing of one of his men, and the escape of which has never been proposed and matured for the which he has been able to effect. The following is the PROCLAMATION.

Whereas, Governor J. W. MCCLURG, of Missouri, has authorized and empowered us to organize a special armed force to search for and arrest SAMUEL HILDEBRAND, of St. Francois county, charged with murder and other crimes, and, if necessary, in capturing said HILDEBRAND, to kill him; and, whereas, we have been specially deputized by JOHN C. BRECKENRIDGE, Sheriff of Washington County, Mo., to execute a warrant issued by WILLIAM CARTER, a Judge of the Circuit Court of said State, authorizing and commanding the arrest of said HILDEBRAND, charged with the crime of murder. This is to notify all persons who have knowledge or information of the whereabouts, or recent whereabouts of said SAMUEL HILDEBRAND that they are commanded to communicate such knowledge or information to us; and all persons in our command forthwith, and all persons are hereby forbidden to aid, harbor or conceal the said HILDEBRAND, under penalty of being deemed accessory to his crimes and escape, if he should escape, and that they will be arrested and dealt with accordingly. All information voluntarily given will be deemed confidential.

By order of JOHN C. BRECKENRIDGE,
Sheriff Washington County, Mo.

JOHN T. CLARK, Deputy.
Colonel W. D. BOWEN, Chief of Armed Posse.
POTOSI, Mo., June 17, 1869.

It is probable that this large amount will induce some more than shrewdness to undertake his capture; but it is generally believed that HILDEBRAND will never be taken alive. He knows that he will receive no mercy at the hands of the law, and that his capture will result in ignominious death. It is conjectured that HILDEBRAND is making his way toward the Mississippi. Those who formerly harbored and assisted him have become alarmed, and are now anxious that he should be brought to justice. It is hoped that the people of the river towns will be on the lookout for him.

HILDEBRAND is six feet one inch in height; sandy complexion; beard rather thin and mostly on chin; keen blue eye; on each side of his face he has a florid or blood-vein colored spot the size of half a dollar; hawk nose; small mouth; feminine voice; light, thin hair; aged about 35 years; weight about 175 pounds; walks very erect; carries his head back. Had on, when last seen, a brown butternut coat, a very old pair of shoes, black slouch hat. Had a scar on one of his legs, caused by a shot passing through the calf and coming out below the knee.

POLITICAL.

JESSE D. BRIGHT has informed the Kentuckians that he is opposed to negro testimony. Other leading Democrats are taking the opposite ground.

To guard against the possibility of fraud at the Virginia election, General CANBY has ordered that two ballot-boxes be used, one for the vote on the Constitution and the officers, and the other for the vote on the excepted clauses of the Constitution. He also directs the Commissioners to permit a Committee of not more than three members of each party to be present at the counting of the ballots.

The constitutionality of the Specific Appropriation bill of Indiana has been argued before the Supreme Court in Indiana, and the suit involved the question of what constitutes a quorum in the Legislature. The Court in its decision declared that the attestation of the presiding officers of the two Houses affixed to the bill indicates that it was properly passed, and that they have no authority to impeach this attestation.

The Fifteenth Constitutional Amendment has passed both branches of the New-Hampshire Legislature. The Lower House has passed a bill establishing a State Constabulary force, which, if it passes the Senate, will be submitted to the people for ratification next November. The Legislature has also passed a bill allowing nine per cent. or any less rate of interest by special contract, with a provision that the question shall be submitted to the people at the next election.

The call for the Ohio State Temperance Convention, in Urbana, on the 28th inst., is sufficiently emphatic. We quote a few sentences: "Friends of temperance in Ohio! The season of rest with you is past, and the time for action, bold and decided action, has come. Sad experience has taught us the necessity of a stringent prohibitory liquor law for Ohio, and a powerful moral sentiment to sustain it. Shall we have it? This remains for you to decide. Let the July Convention be the beginning of a course of action which will result in securing such a law upon our statute book as will effectually destroy the accursed traffic in intoxicating liquors forever in Ohio."

The campaign will commence in Middle Tennessee, by a debate between the candidates for Governor, at Tullahoma, July 5. Hon. E. S. WILLIAMS, who has been a leading Stokes man, declared for SENTER on Saturday last, in a speech made to a Stokes Convention at Carthage.

The Raleigh (N. C.) Standard has nominated a Presidential ticket for 1872. It is: U. S. GRANT for President and Governor WILLIAM W. HOLDEN for Vice-President. It says the South claims the Vice-Presidency.

A long and somewhat bitter quarrel has been settled in San Francisco by a decision that colored men shall be assigned a position in the Fourth of July procession.

General CHARLES P. STONE, now of Goochland County, Va., has accepted the Conservative nomination for State Senator from the Fifth District. He declined a similar nomination a year ago.

The Cleveland Leader has been considering the prospects in regard to the next Ohio Legislature, and it makes the following estimate: Republicans, 59; Democrats, 39; Doubtful, 12. The Senate, it thinks, will contain at least 20 Republicans to 18 Democrats, and there may be gains of other members.

Senator Wade's Views Regarding the Chinese.

From the San Francisco Chronicle, June 23.

During an interview with Ex-Senator WADE yesterday, we learned that himself, lady and party had visited several of the most famous localities around San Francisco, and a number of our local factories. They expressed themselves as particularly impressed with the novelty of Chinese labor exhibited at the Mission Woolen Mills. Mr. WADE stated that he had visited many factories in various parts of the world, but had never seen any class of men as well adapted for the manufacture of woolen fabrics as the Chinese. They are patient, ingenious and reliable, and have their minds so little attracted by outside matters that they appear to be as mechanical in their movements as the machinery they attend. Both the Senator and his party thought the people of California were standing in their own light by rejecting this very useful labor. He thought other States in the Union, as soon as they understand the character of this intelligent, patient and industrious race, would expend millions of dollars in obtaining them. He expressed the remark that before ten years would pass the people of California would be framing laws to prevent the deportation of the Chinese, with far more zeal than they now sought to prevent them coming here. He stated that he did not consider the subject of their immigration to this State as of a local character—such as the Legislature could control. It was a national question, which—since the emancipation of the negroes and the growing desire to extend home manufactures—was of more importance than almost any other subject. Most exclusively, while the immigrants from other countries continued as laborers only long enough to obtain means to procure land or set up in business for themselves. He stated that he had appointed to meet the heads of the six Chinese companies in this city on Friday next, when he would endeavor to obtain certain information from them direct. He thought if California would adopt the national currency, and treat the Chinese liberally, in a few years it might become the greatest manufacturing State in the Union. Eastern capitalists, manufacturers and artisans preferred the currency of the Union to the cumbersome money of California. He thought California committed a great error in not accepting the national currency when first introduced—an opinion which was indorsed by all the company present, several of whom were prominent citizens of San Francisco. He informed us that he leaves by the San José cars, at 7 o'clock this morning, for a short visit to Santa Clara Valley, the New-Almaden mines, and other famous places easy of access in two days' travel, as he would have to be in this city by Friday to meet the Chinese delegation. Both the Senator and his lady expressed themselves surprised and delighted at the extent and beauty of the City of San Francisco and its surroundings.

PERSONAL AND LITERARY.

The double-page cartoon in the current number of Appletons' Journal, called "Beware of the Mirror," is by GASTON FAY, and is the most skillful, elaborate and successful piece of work yet produced by that accomplished draughtsman. Mr. FAY has a fine mastery of effect—and this is specially observable in his present design. Taken as a whole, it is one of the most noticeable supplements yet issued in connection with the Journal.

The excellent sketch in the July Galaxy of the "Last Chapter in the History of the Late War," is from the pen of Major J. M. BUNDY, editor of the Mail, who was himself an acter in the scene which he so vigorously and entertainingly describes.

Mr. ANDREW MEAD, formerly of the Paterson Courier, died yesterday morning. He was a consistent Democrat, highly respected by all parties.

General GREEN CLAY SMITH has returned to Kentucky from Montana, and is preaching in different parts of the State in Baptist pulpits.

General ROSECRANS was to leave Mexico City on or about the last day of June, with his family, for Acapulco and San Francisco.

JOHN C. BRECKINRIDGE is to deliver a speech on Agriculture at a County Fair in Kentucky, in September.

The appointment of Surgeon WILLIAM MAXWELL WOOD, United States Navy, to the position of Chief of the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery, is announced. Dr. WOOD was born in Maryland, and entered the Navy as Assistant Surgeon in 1839. He served in the Mexican war and took part in the bombardment of the forts in China in 1857. During the late war he was Fleet Surgeon of the North Atlantic Squadron, participated in the engagement between the Rebel ram Merrimac and the Monitor, as well as several other fights that occurred in the squadron to which he was attached. He was the author of a work on China, and has written a number of pamphlets on naval and political subjects.

Among the passengers by the steamer Queen, which arrived last evening, are Rev. O. P. ALLEN, wife and three children, and Misses RICHTER and REYNOLDS, missionaries at Harpoot, Turkey. Mr. ALLEN and his wife have been absent fourteen years.

To the Editor of the New-York Times:

Having read several statements regarding burglar-proof work—since the famous robbery of the Ocean Bank—which tend to place all styles of so-called burglar-proof security on an equal footing, and, in some instances, condemnatory of all, we are led to offer a few remarks in defence of those who are doing something to raise the standard of security, and producing work which burglars are glad to leave undisturbed. It has been justly said that "nothing in the line of safes can be absolutely burglar proof." Man cannot put together a safe which another, with plenty of time and tools, cannot take apart; but we do say that work can be made, and is made, which men cannot undo in the time allotted to burglars. The same remarks are applicable to locks. There are many combination locks which to an expert afford but slight protection; but, on the other hand, there are locks behind which we will place a considerable sum of money as a guarantee of our faith in their security. The true difficulty lies, not in our inability to produce work which will defy burglars, but in the unwillingness of men desiring security to pay for good work. When a robbery occurs like the one mentioned above, men should not ignore the fact that security made from ten to fifteen years ago is not adapted to save funds from the burglars of to-day, and locks which can be picked in half an hour for sport, should not be depended upon to cover hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Put in a safe which will turn a burglar's thoughts in the direction of easier conquests, and one's funds are safe. Such work we can do and are doing to-day. We will unite with any one to condemn poor materials or faulty construction in burglar-work, and we are willing to make work subject to a test by any means which men can bring to bear. We will take pleasure in showing our method of constructing burglar-proof work, or in explaining the best combination lock in the world, to any person desiring security, or to those who are interested in this question sufficiently to give us a call.

CONTINUED SALE OF COUNTRY HOMES AT RYE.

The late sale of property at Rye was in every particular a success; but want of time compelled the postponement of the sale of

GLEN DALE AND WEST RYE

TO THURSDAY, JULY 8, ON THE GROUNDS.

Every lot in Kingsland-place and Rye Park was sold to the very best class of purchasers, rendering the

all the more desirable. To all who would secure

BEAUTIFUL AND ACCESSIBLE COUNTRY HOMES

in the very garden spot of the most picturesque, fertile, healthy, highly-cultivated and accessible vicinity of New-York, offers smaller lots, equally well located, for more moderate buyers who may require a

WEST RYE

PLEASANT, ECONOMICAL HOME NEAR THE CITY,

situate directly on the railroad, adjacent to the village of Rye, and both places enjoy the advantages of FINE LOCATION AND NEIGHBORHOOD, churches, schools, stores, express, telegraph, &c.

A SPECIAL TRAIN

will leave the depot of the New-York and New-Haven Railroad at 10 o'clock precisely, DAY OF SALE. Tickets Furnished at Depot. Transportation and Collation of course Free.

For maps and information apply to ANDREW WILSON, Jr., at Rye; MULLER, WILKINS & CO., Auctioneers of Glen Dale, No. 7 Pine-st., or S. DINGEE, Auctioneers of West Rye, No. 9 Pine-st.

RARE CHANCE FOR INVESTMENT, AT AUCTION.

MASPETH LOTS, BY MALLORY & BLACKWELL, THURSDAY, JULY 8, at 2 o'clock P. M., Nearer City Hall, New-York, than 40th-st.

When they will sell absolutely and without reserve, to the highest bidder,

200 SPLENDID LOTS!

IN POINT OF TIME,
EASY TERMS!! EASY TERMS!!
70 per cent. can remain for three years.

Maspeth is located between the South Side and Flushing Railroads, and has a Station on each road. The property to be sold is on the line of the Great Grand-st. Extension, and is nearer the business centre of New-York than any that has been offered at auction this season. Just think of it! But 15 minutes from 34th-st., and 35 minutes from City Hall, New-York, and horse railroads laid from all the Brooklyn ferries; surrounded on all sides by horse and steam communications; of such quick and easy access, what must be its speedy prospective value!

Absolutely the best opportunity offered this season for investment in lots.

Persons wanting homes, or looking for lots for improvement or speculation, must look sharp and attend this sale. Being just outside the City limits, the taxes are nominal, amounting to less than 50 cents each lot per annum.

Lunch served by first-class caterers on arrival of train. Special trains leave James-slip at 9 o'clock P. M., 34th-st. at 9.30 P. M., and Hunter's Point, via Flushing Railroad, at 1¼ P. M.

Danville, Urbana, Bloomington and Pekin Railroad Company

(OF ILLINOIS)

First Mortgage Seven per Cent.

GOLD BONDS,

PRINCIPAL AND INTEREST PAYABLE IN GOLD AT THE FARMERS' LOAN AND TRUST COMPANY, NEW-YORK, COUPONS PAYABLE APRIL AND OCTOBER.

FREE OF GOVERNMENT TAX.

These Bonds are convertible into stock at par, at the option of the holder, and may be registered in the name of the owner at any time, if desired.

Length of road, 117 5-100 miles; total amount of bonds, $2,000,000, averaging less than $18,000 per mile, the bonds being secured by a First Mortgage on the whole road, equipment and entire property of the Company.

This road runs east and west on the line of the principal and oldest emigrant wagon road in the State, passing through several populous towns and cities, and the richest agricultural district in Illinois, which will furnish local business sufficient to make it a first-class paying road; while with its connections with many principal lines its through trade must be such as to make it one of the most profitable in the country. A glance at a map will convince any one that the prospects of this road are most promising.

The whole line has been graded at a cost of $1,200,000, which has been paid with funds realized from stock subscriptions, and is now ready for the rails, which are being rapidly put down. The whole road will be completed early the coming Fall.

We offer a limited number of these bonds at 95 and accrued interest in currency, and recommend them as a safe and profitable investment.

Seven Per Cent. Bonds,

SECURED BY FIRST MORTGAGE ON THE MISSOURI VALLEY R. R.

INTEREST PAYABLE AT THE CITY OF NEW-YORK IN FEBRUARY AND AUGUST.
PRICE 102½ AND ACCRUED INTEREST IN CURRENCY.

This road commences at Kansas City, in the State of Missouri, traverses the fertile and populous valley of the Missouri River via Atchison, Leavenworth and St. Joseph, and thence passes through the Valley of the One Hundred and Two River to the Iowa State line. Its whole length is 130 miles, 90 of which are already completed and in active operation, and the balance under contract. It has valuable railroad connections, is already doing a prosperous business, with prospects of an early and large increase.

We recommend these bonds as a cheap and safe investment.

CASE OF YOUNG KETCHUM.

The Prisoner Refuses to be Released.

Termination of the Proceedings—The Writ of Habeas Corpus Discharged—Ketchum Remanded to Sing Sing.

As already published in the TIMES, writs of habeas corpus and certiorari were obtained from Judge BARNARD, of the Supreme Court, a few days ago, in the case of EDWARD B. KETCHUM, imprisoned at Sing Sing for the crime of forgery. The prisoner was sentenced by Recorder (now Governor) HOFFMAN on the 30th of December, 1865, for the term of four years and six months, he having pleaded guilty to one indictment. Several other indictments were found by the Grand Jury, and, of course, are still hanging over him.

The arguments of counsel were made on Wednesday last, at which time the Court announced that on Friday morning a decision would be rendered. Hence for at least half an hour before the time for the Court to open people gathered in the Court-room, and when the moment arrived for commencing proceedings the spacious hall was filled. Most of them were persons who had been drawn thither, no doubt, by reason of the publicity which had been given by the Press to this notorious case. Besides a large number of members of the Bar who had seats assigned to them inside the railing, we noticed several prominent editors, also the father of the prisoner, and several of his other relatives and intimate friends.

Judge BARNARD, having taken his seat upon the bench, immediately produced a roll of manuscript and began by saying—In the case of The People vs. Edward B. Ketchum——

Mr. BARTLETT, counsel for the prisoner, (interrupting suddenly) said he begged the Court to stay his decision a short time. Counsel was desirous that the very important legal questions involved in this proceeding should not only be decided rightly according to the principles of equity, but it was for the highest interests of the parties and for the welfare of the State, that a full, fair, legal and equitable decision should be made in accordance with a true construction of the constitutional questions which had been raised. Since the argument on Wednesday he had become aware of some decisions not alluded to by him on the argument, but which ought to have great weight with his Honor, even if they were not controlling in the case. For the purpose of enabling him to bring them properly to the attention of the Court, he asked that the decision be suspended at least until Saturday morning.

Mr. WM. WALTER PHELPS said: In the matter of the return to the writ of habeas corpus issued by your Honor, upon the merits of which the Court has promised this morning to give its decision, I wish to be heard. And, in the first place, to avoid any perplexity to my learned friend, whose ingenious argument for the petitioner won the approbation of the Court, and is still the admiration of the bar, I want it understood that I appear here not for the petitioner, the uncle; not for the power behind the throne, who moves the proceedings, the father; but for the son, the criminal, standing for him where he would stand, could he do so; speaking for him as he would much better speak for himself, were he a free man. I request, I entreat the Court to consider the return to the writ, whatever its merits, as satisfactory; to dismiss these proceedings, this application as never made, as utterly null and void. Neither the prisoner nor his counsel know or care what will be your decision. But this the prisoner knows and says: that the application for the writ is against his wishes; that his humble counsel has argument in just and merited, and that he has no wish to cheat justice by escaping through a technical defect. He prefers to pay the full penalty of his crime, already nearly expiated, unless his prison door be unlocked through Executive clemency. The prisoner, in short, asks to be left in his cell. This might be enough. But lest it may seem that these proceedings lack in respect to this tribunal; lest it may seem to be bringing a farce into the Court-room, a few facts should be stated. The persistent efforts of the father for his erring son, to obtain for him, now repentant, a pardon and release, have been continued for four years. A Republican and a Democratic Governor have been daily served with petitions from all the great and good of the land, the Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of the United States, the Ministers of the National Cabinet, all men eminent for wealth, station or learning, and in vain. The boy was still in his cell. His health was bad, especially so from asthma during the Summer months. The father believed he had been sufficiently punished. Another Summer would end his term, but that Summer might be his death. In an unfortunate moment, urged by the zeal of a devoted father, he made the application. In making it he had the concurrence neither of the son nor of his friends; and now the son, unwilling to longer give the acquiescence of silence to the act of his father, has instructed me to step aside and end the proceedings. Troublesome as this matter is, I believe the noble conduct of the youth meets the approbation of this Court, and that it can pardon the indiscretion of a white-haired father, who for fear of his son's death, just as the prison doors would naturally open, yields to a temptation to seek a legal redress to which he was counseled two years since; for it is just to Mr. MORRIS KETCHUM to say that to my knowledge eminent counsel advised him two years since of technical merits in the application, and he refused to make it, because he thought the people might not believe that the punishment was at that time adequate. I believe there is no formal order to be entered, that the application, under the circumstances, fails.

Mr. BARTLETT, at the conclusion of the remarks of Mr. PHELPS, said he was unprepared for the statement which had just been made. He knew, of course, much of what had just been asserted before the Court, but as a lawyer, in making his argument on Wednesday last, he did not feel justified in referring to many facts of the case. Much that might be said had been omitted. Counsel, he presumed, came into Court standing upon the Constitution and the statutes of this State. He might have referred to the youth of the prisoner; to his father's gray hairs; to the fact that that father had regarded the son as the "apple of his eye;" that prior to his imprisonment he (prisoner) had been regarded by his friends and acquaintances as a young man of great promise; that although but 24 years of age he had, prior to his unfortunate proceedings in 1865, amassed a fortune of $2,000,000. He might allude to the fact of how, for sixty days and nights, when he saw the impending storm in his financial world, he walked the streets of this City in a state of mind closely allied to that of MILTON'S fallen angel. Counsel would not say the young man was insane when he perpetrated the deed for which he had been imprisoned, but he would say that his morbid conscientiousness had doubtless led him to commit the crime. No man constituted like the prisoner could forget the early and oft-repeated lessons of a pious mother. KETCHUM had the good fortune to have such a mother. The force of circumstances, his notions of mercantile life, his pride, his standing in the community, all combined, operating upon his morbid mind and induced him to do what he did. Counsel alluded to Hon. PRESTON KING, and said young KETCHUM'S case was similar, although the causes which led to such a state of mind were different. But he would ask for no release on technical grounds. He referred to the statute of this State and to the Constitution. There was a misapprehension in the public mind as to the grounds on which a discharge was asked. What he claimed is that the prisoner cannot be legally held in Sing Sing for having plead guilty to an offence for which he was never even accused, much less indicted. In this case there was no indictment and never had been. The question was whether a pure, naked confession, without complaint or indictment, is sufficient to send a man to State Prison and keep him there for a term of years. In conclusion, counsel said he did not master whether KETCHUM wanted to stay in prison or not; he could not be kept there unless there is some law to authorize it. At all events, he wished an opportunity to produce some of the authorities alluded to, and therefore he asked a postponement of the decision until Saturday morning.

Judge BARNARD said that under ordinary circumstances he would adjourn at the request of counsel, made as this had been.

Mr. BARTLETT asked the Court for at least time to communicate with Mr. KETCHUM, the father, the man who had employed him.

Judge BARNARD—Under any ordinary circumstances, as I have just said, I would grant your motion to postpone.

Mr. BARTLETT—Well, your Honor, give us til to-morrow morning before deciding the case! I can within that time produce the authorities of which I have spoken, and I can confer with my client.

District-Attorney GARVIN—Your Honor, this discussion seems to be all on one side. I ask the Court to decide this case now.

Judge BARNARD—The writ of habeas corpus is a personal one. The statute prescribes upon what condition it may be granted. The petition must be signed and verified by the prisoner or by some one in his behalf. If made by one other than the prisoner, the latter must have asked that it be done for him and in his stead. In this case we find, from the statements made by Mr. PHELPS, that the prisoner was opposed to the proceeding from the beginning.

Mr. BARTLETT remarked that at a late hour last night he received a telegram contradictory of what Mr. PHELPS had stated. He again asked for time to secure an interview with Mr. KETCHUM.

Judge BARNARD—I have no objection to a postponement if the District-Attorney and Mr. PHELPS are willing to consent.

District-Attorney GARVIN—I ask that this case take the regular course, and that it be decided now. Under the circumstances, the Court can do nothing but discharge the habeas corpus and remand the prisoner to Sing Sing. The law makes it very plain what the duty of the Court is. There can be no further discussion about it.

Mr. PHELPS said he did not wish to be discourteous to the counsel who had taken up the case in behalf of the prisoner. He, the speaker, was doing what he regarded a duty to Mr. EDWARD B. KETCHUM. The discussion of the proceedings in Court and by the Press of the City would be of no advantage to the prisoner. He must insist that the Court make a decision then in the light of the fact that the prisoner was hostile to these proceedings, and had been so from the beginning.

Judge BARNARD—I think it will be best to have the matter disposed of to-day.

Mr. BARTLETT—But, your Honor, give us time, so that we may see the father and son together for a few moments.

Judge BARNARD said he would dispose of it there and then. He had carefully prepared an opinion (exhibiting a roll of manuscript) embodying his views of the case on the questions of law involved, but owing to the peculiar turn the case had taken, this written opinion was entirely unnecessary. For the reasons already stated he must discharge the writ of habeas corpus and remand the prisoner to the custody of the Warden of Sing Sing Prison, but without prejudice to a renewal of the application.

As soon as this announcement was made, the large crowd in the Court-room dispersed.

OUT-DOOR SPORTS.

The Prospect Park Race Meeting.

The Summer race meeting at Prospect Park Course closes to-day, and if favored with fine weather there will be a capital day's sport. Five races are on the programme, commencing with a handicap hurdle race, for which the entries and weights are as follows: Harry Booth, 5 years, 160 pounds; Lobelia, 5 years, 148 pounds; Bohannon, 5 years, 130 pounds; Mitchell, 3 years, 115 pounds. The second race is the Park Handicap for a purse of $600, two miles, for which the probable runners are Gao, 114 pounds; Hotspur, 109 pounds; General Yorke, 116 pounds; and General Duke, 114 pounds. If the last named start, we think he will prove the winner. The Sequel Stakes, two miles, for three-year-olds, will again bring out Pompey, Payne and Vespucius, each carrying 117 pounds, including a penalty of 7 pounds for being winners. In their previous race, last Saturday, Vespucius carried 7 pounds more weight than Pompey Payne, and as he is now meeting him on more favorable terms, a good race may be looked for, although we think the great Western crack will be the victor. The Two-year-old Sweepstakes, three-quarters of a mile, will bring out Lady Petry, Stamps and the gray filly by Eclipse, out of Fidelity. Although the latter was beaten by Lady Petry's stable companion Chatcoats, last Saturday, we expect to see her win this race, the heavy ground on the previous occasion being decidedly against her. The Consolation Purse did not close until last evening, and we have not received the entries, but if General Duke comes to the post we expect to see him the winner.

Fourth Day's Racing at Troy.

TROY, N. Y., Friday, July 2.

To-day was the fourth and last day of the June meeting of the Rensselaer Park Association. The race for all horses that have never trotted better than 2:25 for a purse of $1,500; $900 to the first, $400 to the second, and $200 to the third horse, was won by MACE'S Gray Mack in three straight heats. Time, 2:29¼, 2:29, and 2:29½. PFIFER'S Myron Perry took the second, and OWEN TELLER'S Bully Barr the third money.

The Alerts of Rochester vs. The Central Citys of Syracuse.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Friday, July 2.

The first game of base ball between the Alerts of Rochester and Central Citys of Syracuse, was played here this afternoon, and resulted in the following score: Alerts, 15; Central Citys, 11.

International Match at Dundas, Canada.

DUNDAS, Canada, Friday, July 2.

The International base-ball match here yesterday, between the Niagara Club, of Buffalo, and the Independent Club, of Dundas, was won by the Niagara Club by thirty-six runs.

Yale vs. Brown at New-Haven.

NEW-HAVEN, Friday, July 2.

The Freshman Ball Clubs of Yale and Brown Universities, played a game of base-ball in this city to-day, resulting in favor of Yale by a score of 55 to 14.

The National Stock Yards at Guttenberg, N. J.

A new cattle market is now being prepared on the west side of the Hudson River, by Messrs. ALLERTON, DUTCHER & MOORE, proprietors of the National Drove Yards, One Hundredth-street and Third-avenue. Yesterday, invited by the President of the Weehawken Ferry Company, Mr. NATH'L DOLE, the President of the Board of Health, Hon. GEO. B. LINCOLN, Dr. SWINBURNE, Dr. MORRIS, and several other gentlemen, were conveyed in carriages to West Forty-second-street, where they crossed the Hudson River to examine the various grounds that are being put in order for the reception of droves of beef cattle for the New-York market.

Some seventy acres of land, most of which is still in a rough and unimproved state, are to be appropriated to the purposes of the market, for the comfort of the animals, and the accommodation of the droves that may be transported from a distance. The grand object of the proprietors seems to be to prepare one vast cattle market, where all the beef cattle may be concentrated, so that their sanitary condition may be readily examined by the sanitary authorities of the City. Spacious pastures, provided with shady groves, are to be prepared for the animals, where they may recover from any injurious effects of a long journey, before they are slaughtered. On the western bank of the Hudson, the ground has been graded, and spacious and commodious yards have been erected, where the oxen are to be offered for sale. The proprietors of the Erie Railroad have just completed a branch road from the main line to these yards, so that all beeves from the West may be unloaded near the yards. A large reservoir is in process of preparation on the hill-side, one or two hundred feet above the yards, which is to receive the pure water that flows from the springs, and from this reservoir it will be conveyed in pipes to the stock yards.

After examining the premises, the company were invited to partake of a sumptuous dinner at the hotel near the yards, where an hour was spent very pleasantly in eating, drinking and speechmaking by the members of the Board of Health, touching the salutary influence of the present enterprise on the City of New-York.

Floral Tribute to the Imprisoned Cuban Leaders.

Last evening Señor ALFERO, General GOICURIA, and the other Cuban leaders imprisoned in the Ludlow-street Jail, were the recipients of a floral tribute of a very elegant character. It was presented by an American gentleman who has a firm faith in the cause of Cuban independence, notwithstanding the tide of disasters which has recently overtaken the movement looking to that end. The floral offering consisted of a basket of superb exotics, measuring a foot and a half long, by the breadth of a foot. The flowers, of the rarest hues and perfume, were arranged in imitation of the Cuban revolutionary flag, the five transverse bars of blue and white being formed of lovely blossoms of the appropriate colors. The Union, which is a red semi-lozenge bearing a white star of five points, was similarly composed of flowers, the red portion being verbenas of the most brilliant crimson, and exhaling the well-known delightful perfume of these flowers. The whole design was surrounded with a wreath of roses, geraniums, violets, white and pink verbenas and other flowers. It was a truthful a most acceptable present to the unlucky Cuban gentlemen behind the bars of Ludlow-street Prison. The design was arranged by Mr. J. D. CLARK, florist, at the Fifth-avenue Hotel.

The Resident Schleswig-Holsteiners.

Another meeting of the resident Schleswig-Holsteiners was held in Stanton-street last night, when action was taken to complete the organization of a society of veterans who served during the war against Denmark in 1849 and 1851, and to discuss the arrangements for the celebration of the battle of Idstedt, and the unveiling of a monument at Idstedt in commemoration of that memorable event. The celebration is to take place on the 25th inst., and a Committee of Arrangements was appointed to do what was necessary in the premises. A permanent board of officers was elected, of whom Mr. HERMAN ENGEL is the President. It is estimated that there are at least 5,000 native Schleswig-Holstein resident in this City.

Grand-Street Grammar School No. 8—Semi-Annual Reception.

The semi-annual reception of the Grand-street Grammar School, No. 8, male and female departments, was held yesterday morning. Several of the school officers were present, and a large concourse of visitors, mostly parents of the children. MATTHIAS CLARK, Esq., presided.

The programme opened with a chorus "Ring the Bell, Watchman," which was finely rendered by the pupils. The leading feature of the entertainment was a charade from the last number of Young Folks, introducing thirty-four characters, mostly in costume. The parts were well taken, and the smash up in the car scene was greeted with peals of laughter.

The salutatory, by JAMES MCGINN, a select reading by MARK PURDY, a composition by DAVID PAGE, and a declamation by FREDERICK BARD followed, and were eminently creditable. A duet, "Sunset," by Misses ANNIE SCHADDE and LIZZIE LERRE, and a solo, "Bird of the North," by Miss LEONTINE LERRE really evinced considerable talent. A beautiful silver medal, presented by Dr. FRANCIS LIEBER, (for many years a Trustee of the Eighth Ward,) to the best boy in the school, was awarded to THOMAS WILLIAMS, of the first class, a handsome boy of twelve years.

The exercises concluded with a brief address from WALTER W. ADAMS, Chairman of the Board, who was extremely complimentary to the teachers and pupils, and especially to the principals, Mr. CHAS. W. LORD and Miss CATHERINE L. COWANT. The room was richly decorated with flowers.

THE PEARSALL-O'CONNOR CASE.

One of the Sisters Rearrested—Judge Cardozo Decides that the Wrong Woman has been Locked Up—She is Promptly Discharged.

JOANNA O'CONNOR, sister of Mrs. PEARSALL, who figured so prominently in the Courts not long ago, was arrested on a bench warrant at the latter's residence by Officer WOOLWICH on Wednesday evening last. She was taken at a very late hour of the night, and was locked up in a cell at the Sixth Ward Police Station. She was entirely ignorant of the cause of her detention, but was brought, on the following morning, to the District-Attorney's office. There Judge CARDOZO appeared and ordered her release, saying that she was not the person for whom the warrant was issued. The mistake was not discovered until after the girl had been in custody nearly twelve hours.

Packard's New-York Business College—Closing Exercises.

The closing exercises of this institution, prior to the Summer vacation, took place yesterday afternoon at the rooms of the College, No. 937 Broadway, in presence of a large number of ladies and gentlemen. Mr. PACKARD, the manager of the Institute, presided, and among the invited guests who occupied the platform were Mayor Hall, Horace Greeley, Victor M. Rice, late State Superintendent of Public Schools, S. S. Randall, Oliver Dyer and Rev. Geo. Crooks.

Mr. PACKARD opened the exercises with a brief address on the general subject of education, and explanatory of the objects of the institution under his charge.

Mr. GREELEY next addressed the audience, and gave his views of what constituted a complete education, urging the importance of business instruction and training to fit a man for the practical duties of a citizen.

Mayor HALL being next called upon made a few happy remarks in his usual serio-comic vein, which were well received. He closed by injoining upon the pupils to bear always in mind the saying of Polonius, "To thine own self be true, and it will follows as surely as day follows night that thou canst not be false to any man."

Brief addresses were also delivered by Messrs. RICE, RANDALL, CROOKS and DYER, and the exercises were interspersed with music on the piano and recitations by the pupils.

At the conclusion of the exercises degrees were conferred by the President on the following pupils composing the graduating class: Geo. W. Harrison, Wm. M. Well, George Peyser, A. S. Matheson, A. G. Wheeler, R. Brewer, A. Levy, A. C. Lawrence, Alexander, C. Childs, C. J. Duganne, G. Adler, D. Wyman, M. Rindskopf, M. Greenhood, H. M. Miller, N. Neimann, A. Hunken, Jr.

The Elizabeth Outrage—Commitment of Walker.

The further examination in the case of GEORGE WALKER, who is charged with having committed an outrage on Miss STEVENS, of New-York, at Elizabeth, about a week ago, was concluded yesterday afternoon before Justice WALTER FURMAN, at the Elizabeth Court-house. Mr. WILLIAM M. EVARTS appeared for the prosecution and Mr. NORMAN ROWE for the defense. The prisoner, his wife and two little children, and his victim, her father and brother, were the only persons beside the officials who were present in the Court-room. A few technicalities having been raised as to whether the locality of the outrage was the Union or Middlesex County, Mr. NORMAN ROWE moved for the discharge of the prisoner on the plea that the evidence adduced was not sufficient to prove the case. The application was refused and the prisoner was committed.

Successful Fishing by Amateurs.

At the commencement of the present week several members of the Pasque Island Club made a most successful fishing excursion. Mr. P. C. HARMON caught a black bass weighing 5½ pounds; Mr. C. H. COATES, one weighing 5½ pounds; Mr. J. LE COUNTE, one weighing 4½ pounds, and Mr. PETER BALEN, one weighing 4¾ pounds. This is considered pretty good fishing for amateurs.

Fifth-avenue to be Covered with Concrete.

The work of laying down the asphalt or concrete pavement, with which Tompkins-square has been partially covered, was begun on the Fifth-avenue, between Thirty-second and Forty-second streets yesterday, and will be proceeded with until the whole avenue is completed.

LOCAL NEWS IN BRIEF.

The General Post Office and all mails will be closed at 12 o'clock noon on Monday, July 5. The branch offices will close at 11 o'clock A. M., and there will be no City deliveries after that hour during the day.

The free religious services in the large hall of the Cooper Institute have been suspended for the season, to be resumed again in September, with the prospect of a permanent pastor to officiate.

The East River School, which is under the management of the Children's Aid Society, enjoyed yesterday an excursion by steamer down the bay, and a picnic at Crossett's Grove, through the liberality of Mrs. STOKES and Miss PHILLIPS, members of the Board of Managers of the school.

HEDWICH BAUM, a German woman, 45 years of age, residing at No. 1 East Broadway, is in fit of insanity, stabbed herself in the breast, inflicting a severe wound. She was sent to Bellevue Hospital.

Brooklyn.

The Assistant Fire Marshal reports that during the month of June there were in Brooklyn twenty-seven fires; that the losses on buildings amounted to $79,845; on stock and furniture, $45,554; that the insurance on buildings damaged or destroyed amounted to $25,300, and on stock and furniture to $63,300, making an actual loss of $109,620.

The Board of Supervisors of Kings County met yesterday afternoon, Supervisor OSBORNE in the chair. Proposals for the work contemplated by the Board in making the additions to the County Jail were read, amounting in all to $53,354 44. After the transaction of some routine business the Board adjourned.

C. B. LE BARON, who is charged with receiving bonds stolen from the Park Savings Bank, as previously reported, was indicted yesterday by the Grand Jury and arraigned before Judge TROY, of the Court of Sessions. He plead not guilty, and was admitted to bail. EDWARD HAINTZSCHT, who offered the bonds for sale, was also indicted.

New-Jersey.

GEORGE D. MARTIN, of New-York, was arrested yesterday in Jersey City, by Officer LYNCH, on warrants issued by Justice MCANALLY, charged by W. C. LONG and H. TAYLOR with passing upon them worthless checks upon the New-York County National Bank. LONG was, it is stated, swindled out of $90, and also $100 on a second check. Upon the checks being presented, it appeared the prisoner had only $3 in the bank. MARTIN was committed for trial.

During May the American Bible Society received from New-Jersey, $6,123, of which $1,482 was a legacy from the late HENRY ROGERS, of Newark. Also $1,000 from LUCAS VOORHEES, of Bergen County.

The Newark Police arrested in June 378 persons. For drunkenness there were 110; larceny, 78; assault and battery, 48; insanity, 9. Some 400 lodgers were supplied with resting places.

Yesterday afternoon VALENTINE BECKER was taken before Commissioner WHITEHEAD for issuing a receipt to Mr. CHARLES LUCKER without having it properly stamped. The further hearing was adjourned.

The Case of Dr. Shoeppe, of Carlisle, Penn.

From the Philadelphia Age.

CARLISLE, Penn., Sunday, June 27, 1869.

Messrs. Welsh & Robb:

Your reporter in mentioning a recent meeting of the Medical Society of the District of Columbia, said that a communication from Dr. SHOEPPE was received, asking for an expression of opinion, probably to be used if favorable, with an application "for pardon or a commutation of the sentence." Permit me to say that this latter opinion is based upon a mistake. It is true that I am convicted of murder in the first degree, but until now no sentence has been passed upon me. My counsel have made efforts to get a new trial granted, and His Honor, Judge GRAHAM, will render his decision about this petition on the 17th of next August. I need not tell that I am convicted for a crime which never has been committed. My conviction was only caused by an unhappy, and, as it seems to me, not just mixture of considering the motives for a crime, and of definition as to the cause of death. But I would under no circumstances consent to a commutation of the death penalty into imprisonment for life. I think a man who has wilfully killed another person ought to be hung, and if there has not been committed a murder, or the prosecution cannot make out clearly, certainly, beyond all reasonable doubt, the cause of death, no person ought to be held responsible for such a thing.

All that I want is justice. If the Court of Cumberland County, or the Supreme Court of the State of Pennsylvania, think that the verdict, which the jury has rendered in my case, is according to the evidence which was given, and according to the laws of the State of Pennsylvania, then I would die like a man, conscious of my innocence, and trusting that future time will reveal this, my innocence, even to the public. For I subordinate and bend myself under the institutions and laws of the country, in which to live I voluntarily have chosen. But I have not abandoned the hope yet, that God will enlighten the mind of the man who has to decide about the legality and lawfulness of my case, and that the efforts of my counsel for a new trial will be crowned with success. If so, then the expression on the opinion of the Medical Society of the District of Columbia would be used as a part of the evidence.

You would oblige me very much, Messrs. Editors, by considering these few remarks as correction of the unintended mistake of your reporter.

Most respectfully yours, DR. SHOEPPE.

GENERAL SHERMAN.

His Reminiscences of California—How San Francisco Got the Start.

A correspondent of the San Francisco Alta California, writing from Washington, June 13, says:

A veteran San Franciscan now in Washington, who frequently visits my rooms to read up the files of the Alta, called on General SHERMAN at his residence lately, in company with Senator COLE, to consult with him in regard to the location of the Soldiers' Home on the Pacific. He says the impression made on his mind by the great soldier was that of a Californian of '49—genial, frank and communicative, free from all pomposity and freezing politeness. The General warmed up with enthusiasm when relating reminiscences of his early days in California, (he went there in 1849,) talked glibly of the names of streets and familiar localities that had evidently made a lasting impression on his memory; and in reply to a question of his contemplated visit, said he would "take a run over there some day soon." When he "ran over there" before, it occupied 136 days of his time. One anecdote he related will perhaps be interesting, if not entirely new, to the readers of the Alta:

"There were some pretty sharp operators in real estate there," said General SHERMAN. "LEIDESDORFF, FOLSOM and several others, after the gold discovery, formed a combination and managed to get possession of all the land worth having at the time, and shaped the future destiny of the place, which was then called 'Yerba Buena.' A long, tall fellow, six or seven feet or so high, named SEMPLE, not being included in their ring, went over to VALLEJO'S ranche and talked that gentleman into giving him a league or two of his immense tract of land fronting on the Straits of Carquinez, promising to found a city, and name it in honor of the General's wife, Francisca Benicia. The place was promptly surveyed, streets named, sites set apart for public edifices, a number of lots donated to influential companies and individuals, and the city duly christened 'Francisca.' This movement alarmed FOLSOM and his friends, who immediately adopted a more liberal policy, with a view to keeping trade at Yerba Buena. They offered him (SHERMAN) lots for merely the legal expenses of transfer, which to-day are worth hundreds of thousands of dollars, and which he refused as worthless sand hills, regarding their offers as an insult to his intelligence. The enterprising FOLSOM perceived the advantages of a name. The Bay of San Francisco was marked on every sailor's chart, and vessels were up for 'the Bay,' i. e., San Francisco, in all parts of the world. Calling his friends together, they in mass meeting instructed the Ayuntamiento to change the name from 'Yerba Buena' to 'San Francisco,' which was formally done. SEMPLE protested against their appropriating the name, on account of its similarity to his town already located, but they stubbornly retained it, and he subsequently changed the name of his place to Benicia, which fulfilled his promise at any rate to name it after Señora VALLEJO. But the skippers of sailing craft arriving in the bay east anchor in the most convenient harbor which presented itself, rather than seek a better location for a city elsewhere; and thus Yerba Buena, alias San Francisco, took the start in the race, which she has maintained under the patronag of the Saint until this day, notwithstanding its many natural disadvantages compared with its ancient rival Benicia."

The San Francisco Alta California welcomes Mr. SEWARD by quoting the opening of his speech in the Senate upon the question of the admission of California. Mr. SEWARD said: "Mr. President, shall California be admitted? For my individual self, and coming from that State which must sooner and longer be brought into commercial and political rivalry with the rest of Commonwealth, I answer, yes. Every new State, whether it comes from the East, or from the West, from whatever part it may come, is always welcome. But California, that clime where the West dies away in the rising East—California, which bounds at once an empire and a continent—California, the youthful Queen of the Pacific, in her robes of freedom gorgeously inlaid with gold—is doubly welcome."
